15,000 Men Expected In That War Area

American Support Units 'Set Up Shop' In Delta

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A detachment of American support troops — engineers, signal and security forces — has set up shop in the Mekong River delta in a movement expected to commit at least a 15,000-man U.S. infantry division to the war in that waterlogged rice bowl.

The U.S. Command announced today the detachment moved to an area on the My Tho River at Dong Tan — about five miles southwest of the town of My Tho and 40 miles southwest of Saigon — and "is continuing preparation of the base site."

The long-heralded shift of Americans to the thickly populated delta, which could contribute to making 1967 the bloodiest year of the Vietnam war, developed as shells from supporting artillery killed eight American soldiers and wounded 34 in a company of the 1st Infantry Division in the Iron Triangle north of Saigon.

"Preliminary investigation indicates error in plotting the firing data," a spokesman said.

A report from the field, where about 30,000 American and South Vietnamese troops are pressing the biggest offensive of the war, said 16 of the 155mm shells fell among the company.

Though the announcement concerning the delta covered only the support troops, it was obvious they were paving the way for long-range operations by American ground combat forces. Government battalions and the Viet Cong have waged desultory war to a stalemate in its mud, muck and water.

A short-range operation by 4,000 U.S. Marines and Vietnamese was in its eighth day on the coastal Thanh Phu peninsula, 55 miles south of Saigon and 40 miles from My Tho. A detachment of 12 to 20 U.S. Leathernecks reported moderate casualties in a clash with a Viet Cong force of undetermined size in the first solid engagement of this campaign. Enemy casualties were not known.

U.S. commanders have said the delta, laced by 25,000 miles of navigable waterways and countless miles of swamps and paddy fields, must be wrested from Viet Cong control if the war is to be won by the allied side. More than a third of South Vietnam's 15 million people live in the delta and it is estimated 100,000 guerrillas are based among them.

Fear that the massive firepower of modern American weapons might claim heavy toll among civilians was one factor delaying the decision that the government forces must have help.

The American presence in the delta has been slight, limited to advisers to Vietnamese units, river patrol boat crews and some helicopter units.

The delta movement was announced as U.S. B52 bombers pounded Viet Cong base camps and escape routes north of the "iron triangle" and ground forces inside the triangle reported a mounting enemy toll of close to 400 killed, captured or surrendered.

The B52s struck at four enemy base camps in the 12th raid in support of the massive Operation Cedar Falls, which is designed to clear out and neutralize the jungled triangular area 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon.

As the war's largest ground sweep rounded out its sixth day, U.S. forces reported a near-record haul of 2,100 tons of enemy rice and large amounts of other supplies, as well as destruction of hundreds of bunkers, trenches and tunnels.

U. S. spokesmen also reported that nearly 5,000 Vietnamese villagers and peasants have been moved from their homes in the triangle to be resettled elsewhere and that the evacuation is expected to total 8,000 to 10,000 before the operation ends.

District Truck Driver Killed As Rig Wrecks

Steel Coils Pin Victim In Trumbull

George E. Boals Caught In Cab As Vehicle Runs Wild

A 41-year-old Salineville truck driver was killed when pinned in the cab of his rig which veered off a curve on Route 7 near Kinsman Thursday night, ripped off the front of a vacant house and came to a halt between two trees.

George E. Boals of 23 Lincoln St. was crushed by two coils of steel which were torn loose from the bed of the trailer of the truck.

The Trumbull County sheriff's office said Mr. Boals was driving south on Route 7 about 11:20 when the rig missed a curve at the intersection with the Kinsman-Pymatuning Rd.

The truck traveled some 350 feet off the highway and slammed across the front of the house, continuing south and passing between the trees before coming to rest.

Deputies said the two coils — weighing 37,000 pounds — were broken loose when the rig struck a cement stoop in front of the house. They hit the cab from behind, pinning the driver inside.

He was taken to the Trumbull Memorial Hospital at Warren and pronounced dead.

Witnesses indicated there were no skid marks. Mr. Boals may have been stricken at the wheel or may have dozed.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Boals was born Jan. 1, 1926, in Salineville, a son of George Boals and Beulah Smith Boals, who survive. He was a member of the Salineville Methodist Church and the Salineville American Legion.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Shirley Boals, and a son, John Boals, and a daughter, Charlene Boals, all at home, and a twin sister, Mrs. Geraldine Banfield of Weirton.

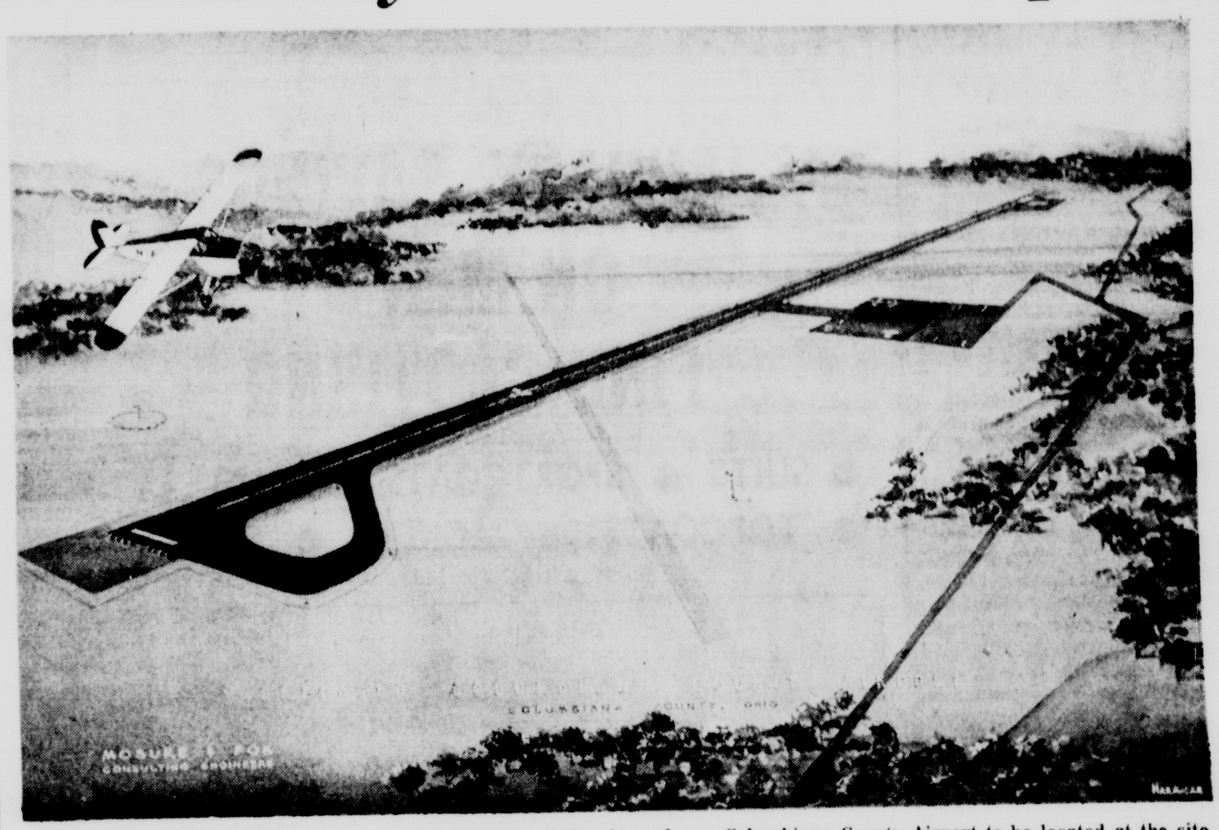
Preliminary Plans Set On Airport



PLANNED AIRPORT. This is an architect's drawing of the planned new Columbiana County Airport to be located at the site of the present Swaney Airport. This view is looking south, with Air Beacon Rd. at the right of the facility and Glenmoor beyond the hills to the left. The sketch depicts the first phase completed, with buildings and other facilities to be undertaken later. A second north-south runway site intersects the main runway.

LISBON—Preliminary plans for the new Columbiana County Airport near Glenmoor were presented to the county Airport Authority Thursday night.

Final plans are scheduled to be submitted in March, with advertising for bids due in the spring, authority officials said.

The planning is being handled by Mosure & Fok, Youngstown consulting engineers, under a $5,000 federal grant and $5,000 from the county commissioners.

THE commissioners Thursday appointed Norman Winegard of Duck Creek Rd., Salem, to the authority, replacing Victor Zerbs of Salem, who resigned last week.

An East Palestine resident is being considered for the post from which Robert Schaeffer of East Palestine resigned.

Vincent Laneve, president of the authority, said plans call for bids to be obtained for the airport construction in order to determine the final cost of the work.

He pointed out engineers will not be able to provide an accurate estimate of the expense of grading until the final plans for the facility are complete.

Cost of the airport, now thought to range from $250,000 to $300,000, will depend on the amount of earth to be moved.

The project will receive $100,000 from Ohio, along with additional funds from

In Defense Of Powell's Troubles

Rights Leader Set To Call 'Negro Summit Parley'

NEW YORK (AP) — Civil rights leader A. Philip Randolph says he intends to call a "Negro summit conference" to consider possible action against congressmen responsible for Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's congressional troubles.

Powell was ousted from his House committee chairmanship Tuesday and has been deprived — at least temporarily — of his seat in the 90th Congress.

Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, said Thursday he believed the congressional action against the Harlem Negro congressman "reflected the greatest crisis in Negro-white relations."

The over-all aim of the conference, Randolph said, would be to re-examine and revise Negro strategy against what he termed "the white power structure."

One close associate of Randolph said Rep. Emanuel Celler, a veteran Brooklyn Democrat, would be named as one of the targets because he did not "actively" work to save Powell.

Celler responded by noting that he had been the author and floor manager of all the House civil rights bills since 1960.

He added: "They can do what they wish. It's up to them. But they had better be careful, because their sword may be bent against themselves. The action against Powell was not a racial act. If they do what they propose, they will only intensify the (white) backlash and reap the whirlwind."

In Philadelphia Thursday, Carl T. Rowan, former head of the U.S. Information Agency, said race was a major factor behind the moves against Powell.

"I cannot say in honesty that I think it (race) was the major factor, but I know deep in my heart that race was a major factor," said Rowan, also a Negro, who now writes a syndicated column.

At a meeting of the Philadelphia Fellowship Commission Rowan said one question was whether Powell's "alleged sins" were so much greater than other members of Congress. "My special firsthand knowledge of the activities of several congressmen forces me to say no," he said.

Meeting in Miami, Fla., the National Newspaper Publishers Association called Powell a "crusader for freedom and equality" and issued a demand that he be given his seat in Congress.

Didn't Touch Baker 'Fund,' Seven Claim

Eight In Congress Give Testimony At Capital Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven senators and a representative — half of them Republicans — paraded to Bobby Baker's trial to testify they collected nothing from a reported $66,300 political fund linked with the former Senate Democratic secretary.

Their names were brought out by a savings and loan official who testified Thursday that Baker advised the savings and loan industry in 1962 to contribute $100,000 so "doors would be open" in Washington.

Later, most of the eight said they also had not collected any funds from the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., a onetime Baker business associate. The defense tried to bring out some publicly unexplained Kerr link during Thursday's testimony but was ruled out of order by U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver Gasch.

Of the eight members of Congress who were sworn in as witnesses, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the first two, were the only ones who actually testified. Each answered "he did not" when asked if Baker had made any contributions to their 1962 campaigns on Oct. 22, 1962, or thereafter.

For the others, defense attorney Edward Bennett Williams said, as each took the stand, he would stipulate they had received no such funds from Baker "on behalf of himself or others."

Million To Be Spent

County Projects Set By Ohio Bell

Projects to enlarge and improve Ohio Bell Telephone Co. facilities in Columbiana County will total more than $1 million in 1967, officials of the utility announced Thursday.

Ohio Bell's $250,000 investment in East Liverpool will include completion of the new business office at 319 W. 6th St. It is to open in March, replacing the present office on Market St.

THE FIRM will invest some $350,000 in the Salem area and $450,000 in East Palestine, New Waterford, Rogers, Columbiana, Leetonia and Lisbon.

Statewide, the company will spend a record $125 million for growth and modernization.

"For business as a whole, 1967 looks like another good year," Eckley said. "In our case, the $125 million program reflects enormous public demands on us from nearly every corner of the state."

"As a regulated public utility, we are happy to be able to meet these demands and, in so doing, make a major contribution to the economic vitality of the East Liverpool vicinity and Ohio."

About $100,000 of the money to be invested here, Sauer said, will be spent for switching equipment at the company's exchange at 214 W. 5th St.

The balance, $150,000, will be spent for cabling and for switchboards, phones and other equipment used by residence and business customers, according to Sauer.

4 Aluminum Firms Reveal Price Boosts

Johnson's Advisor Criticizes Increase As 'Untimely' Step

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's four major aluminum producers have posted price increases despite a government request that they defer the action "on grounds of the important national interest involved."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, promptly criticized the price hikes as "untimely and unnecessary in view of the industry's continually improved earnings."

The increases announced Thursday by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Reynolds Metals Co., Aluminum Corp. of America and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp are effective Jan. 18. They are nearly identical to those posted by the same producers 14 months ago, then rolled back in the face of stern Johnson administration opposition.

There was no immediate indication the administration would seek to roll back the latest increases, although Ackley said in a statement: "I want to assure the American public that this ill-timed sequence of price increases — for tubular steel products, copper, molydenum and now aluminum — does not mark the failure or the end of the government's effort to obtain responsible pricing restraints by large corporations."

Prices of the other metals he mentioned were raised recently. Referring to this, Ackley said "the national interest was poorly served when the aluminum industry jumped on the bandwagon of metals price increase."

Workers Stir New Trouble In Red China

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese correspondent reported from Peking today that Red Chinese workers, including both supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung, are pouring into the capital, raising the possibility of violence there.

A correspondent for the newspaper Yomiuri telephoned his paper that more than one million workers had already arrived in Peking and more are coming in daily.

"The situation in Peking is fluid and the center of the storm appears to have shifted from the militant Red Guards to these workers," he said.

"It is certain that the situation in Peking required Mao's return. There is a possibility that the violence which hit Shanghai and other cities will spread to Peking and other cities throughout mainland China."

Japanese newsmen reported that wall posters in Peking said Mao has returned to Peking to take personal command in his struggle against the faction headed by President Liu Shao-chi.

The Peking correspondent for the Kyodo news agency said one poster announced that the central committee of the Chinese Communist party had decided to strengthen the powers of the security police. This report said new measures included arrest for anyone hindering Mao's continuing purge or hampering production and the arrest of anyone ridiculing Mao or Defense Minister Lin Piao, Mao's heir apparent and chief associate in the purge.

Beaver Would Be Involved

New Educational System Sought For Pennsylvania

Beaver County's schools would be joined with those in Butler, Lawrence and Mercer counties under a new Pennsylvania education system proposed by the state Board of Education Thursday.

The plan, which must be approved by the 1967 legislature before it can be implemented, calls for the 25 new "Intermediate Units" to begin operating July 1, 1968.

THE PROPOSAL would eliminate the positions of Beaver County Supt. H. C. Elder and 65 other county superintendents.

The city of Pittsburgh would be Unit Two, with a pupil population of 84,391; Allegheny County, with 147,624 pupils, would be Unit Three, and Fayette, Green and Washington counties, with 102,440 pupils, would be Unit One.

The board was authorized by the 1965 legislature to draw up the plan. The proposal is the final step in a three-year-old program to streamline the administration of Pennsylvania's public school system.

Earlier steps included establishment of the board itself and reorganization of school districts from more than 2,000 to less than 500.

The intermediate units would function as a "middleman" in a three - echelon state school system: local school district, intermediate unit and the State Department of Public Instruction. Under the present setup, the county superintendent's office is the middle-echelon unit.

Severino Stefanon, board secretary, said the intermediate units would be "strictly service agencies with no administrative or supervisory responsibilities."

SERVICES furnished to member districts would include advice and planning aid in such areas as business and tax problems, curriculum development, health problems, food service, and building needs.

Of the 25 proposed intermediate units, the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and Allegheny, Montgomery, and Bucks counties would form separate units. The other 20 units would contain more than one

Warnings Scheduled On '66 Parking Tags

The "Meter Maid" office is preparing to mail warnings to motorists who ignored parking tickets issued during 1966, pointing out they may be haled into Municipal Court on warrants if they do not settle promptly, Mrs. Leah Kelly, supervisor, said today.

The dilatory motorists will be advised they may pay a $2 penalty at the "Meter Maid" office. The penalty jumps from $1 to $2 24 hours after a ticket is issued. A driver haled before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a warrant faces the prospect of paying $7.50 in court costs in addition to the penalty assessed by the judge.

Soviet Plots To Ruin Mao, Report Says

MOSCOW (AP) — In the back rooms of the massive gray Soviet Communist party headquarters, a plot has developed to try to ruin Mao Tse-tung's reputation.

The outlines are gradually becoming visible as the Soviet press whittles away at various claims to greatness made on behalf of the Chinese leader.

Informed sources report that the sharpest attack is yet to come: A Soviet contention that Mao stole Soviet ideas on guerrilla warfare to establish his reputation as one of history's

Other parts of the plot range from assertions that Mao's regime is soft on capitalists — to a Communist, the blackest sin — to scoffing at his much-vaunted poetry.

The plot is just one part of the current Kremlin attack on "Mao Tse-tung and his group," who are accused of following an increasingly dangerous anti-Soviet policy.

There has never been any love lost around the Kremlin for Mao, who rose to prominence in the late 1920s by ousting Moscow influences from the Chinese Communist party.

20 New York Homes Hit By Fire, Blasts

NEW YORK (AP)—A fire punctuated by gas explosions roared through an eight-block residential area of Jamaica, Queens, today, destroying 20 homes and lighting the predawn sky with brilliant yellow and orange flames for miles around.

Authorities at the scene said there were no reports of injuries.

Quick precautionary action by firemen and policemen who responded to reports of a gas odor in the area and evacuated residents before the fire roared out of control apparently saved many lives.

Two pieces of fire equipment —a ladder truck and an engine —were reported destroyed in the fire when they stalled and firemen had to abandon them.

By 8 a.m., the dense, black smoke that had shot hundreds of feet into the air was gone. Flames spurting out of the gas main shot about 200 feet into the air.

Soviet Plots To Ruin Mao, Report Says

MOSCOW (AP) — In the back rooms of the massive gray Soviet Communist party headquarters, a plot has developed to try to ruin Mao Tse-tung's reputation.

The outlines are gradually becoming visible as the Soviet press whittles away at various claims to greatness made on behalf of the Chinese leader.

Informed sources report that the sharpest attack is yet to come: A Soviet contention that Mao stole Soviet ideas on guerrilla warfare to establish his reputation as one of history's

Other parts of the plot range from assertions that Mao's regime is soft on capitalists — to a Communist, the blackest sin — to scoffing at his much-vaunted poetry.

The plot is just one part of the current Kremlin attack on "Mao Tse-tung and his group," who are accused of following an increasingly dangerous anti-Soviet policy.

There has never been any love lost around the Kremlin for Mao, who rose to prominence in the late 1920s by ousting Moscow influences from the Chinese Communist party.

Didn't Touch Baker 'Fund,' Seven Claim

Eight In Congress Give Testimony At Capital Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven senators and a representative — half of them Republicans — paraded to Bobby Baker's trial to testify they collected nothing from a reported $66,300 political fund linked with the former Senate Democratic secretary.

Their names were brought out by a savings and loan official who testified Thursday that Baker advised the savings and loan industry in 1962 to contribute $100,000 so "doors would be open" in Washington.

Later, most of the eight said they also had not collected any funds from the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., a onetime Baker business associate. The defense tried to bring out some publicly unexplained Kerr link during Thursday's testimony but was ruled out of order by U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver Gasch.

Of the eight members of Congress who were sworn in as witnesses, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the first two, were the only ones who actually testified. Each answered "he did not" when asked if Baker had made any contributions to their 1962 campaigns on Oct. 22, 1962, or thereafter.

For the others, defense attorney Edward Bennett Williams said, as each took the stand, he would stipulate they had received no such funds from Baker "on behalf of himself or others."

Million To Be Spent

County Projects Set By Ohio Bell

Projects to enlarge and improve Ohio Bell Telephone Co. facilities in Columbiana County will total more than $1 million in 1967, officials of the utility announced Thursday.

Ohio Bell's $250,000 investment in East Liverpool will include completion of the new business office at 319 W. 6th St. It is to open in March, replacing the present office on Market St.

THE FIRM will invest some $350,000 in the Salem area and $450,000 in East Palestine, New Waterford, Rogers, Columbiana, Leetonia and Lisbon.

Statewide, the company will spend a record $125 million for growth and modernization.

"For business as a whole, 1967 looks like another good year," Eckley said. "In our case, the $125 million program reflects enormous public demands on us from nearly every corner of the state."

"As a regulated public utility, we are happy to be able to meet these demands and, in so doing, make a major contribution to the economic vitality of the East Liverpool vicinity and Ohio."

About $100,000 of the money to be invested here, Sauer said, will be spent for switching equipment at the company's exchange at 214 W. 5th St.

The balance, $150,000, will be spent for cabling and for switchboards, phones and other equipment used by residence and business customers, according to Sauer.

20 New York Homes Hit By Fire, Blasts

NEW YORK (AP)—A fire punctuated by gas explosions roared through an eight-block residential area of Jamaica, Queens, today, destroying 20 homes and lighting the predawn sky with brilliant yellow and orange flames for miles around.

Authorities at the scene said there were no reports of injuries.

Quick precautionary action by firemen and policemen who responded to reports of a gas odor in the area and evacuated residents before the fire roared out of control apparently saved many lives.

Two pieces of fire equipment —a ladder truck and an engine —were reported destroyed in the fire when they stalled and firemen had to abandon them.

By 8 a.m., the dense, black smoke that had shot hundreds of feet into the air was gone. Flames spurting out of the gas main shot about 200 feet into the air.

4 Aluminum Firms Reveal Price Boosts

Johnson's Advisor Criticizes Increase As 'Untimely' Step

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's four major aluminum producers have posted price increases despite a government request that they defer the action "on grounds of the important national interest involved."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, promptly criticized the price hikes as "untimely and unnecessary in view of the industry's continually improved earnings."

The increases announced Thursday by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Reynolds Metals Co., Aluminum Corp. of America and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp are effective Jan. 18. They are nearly identical to those posted by the same producers 14 months ago, then rolled back in the face of stern Johnson administration opposition.

There was no immediate indication the administration would seek to roll back the latest increases, although Ackley said in a statement: "I want to assure the American public that this ill-timed sequence of price increases — for tubular steel products, copper, molydenum and now aluminum — does not mark the failure or the end of the government's effort to obtain responsible pricing restraints by large corporations."

Prices of the other metals he mentioned were raised recently. Referring to this, Ackley said "the national interest was poorly served when the aluminum industry jumped on the bandwagon of metals price increase."

Receipts Rise At Post Office In East End

The 1966 postal receipts at the Station A office in East End showed an increase of $2,257 over those of 1965, according to the annual report submitted to Postmaster Samuel W. Brown by Theodore W. Burke, superintendent of the facility.

Burke said receipts last year totalled $30,964.97, compared with $28,707 in 1965. This is the third consecutive year the receipts have increased.

The number of money orders issued to patrons dropped, but this was attributed to the regulation that does not allow money order business to be conducted on Saturdays, except for the two preceding Christmas. The money orders sold totaled approximately $175,000.

Insured parcels number 1,669, compared with 1,596 in 1965. The COD business was almost the same, with more than 400 articles being sent from East End.

Brown said some patrons find it easier to park at the East End and Calcutta branches, accounting to a degree for the increased business. Also, many persons who work at Midland or plants in the East End area have lock boxes there rather than downtown, where there is a greater parking problem.

Forty-six members and guests attended.

He encouraged the club to give serious consideration to establishing a youth exchange program with other countries.

U.S. Raids Knocked Out North Vietnam Airfields

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. warplanes knocked out North Vietnam's secondary airfields with a little-known series of bombing raids, sources said today. The raids apparently were halted sometime last year.

The United States has ruled only four major jet-capable bases in the Hanoi-Haiphong area off limits, the sources said.

In 1965 and 1966 American strikes devastated five all-weather air strips which the Communists could have used in a pinch for the operation of their small fleet of Soviet-made MIG fighters.

Twenty-nine bombing raids unleashed hundreds of tons of explosives in 1965 against bases at the former French stronghold of Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi; at the coastal city of Vinh, about 200 miles north of the demilitarized zone; at Na San, 100 miles west of Hanoi; and at Dong Hoi, another coastal town only 40 miles north of the DMZ.

Last year U.S. Jets clobbered Dien Bien Phu again after Communist construction teams had almost completed repairs; another strip at Phu Tho, 50 miles northwest of Hanoi in the heavily defended Red River valley was attacked.

The Phu Tho strip was a new base. U.S. planes waited until construction was almost finished, then streaked in with a destructive bombing sweep.

The Communists sought to fix up the bases for possible use, especially at Dong Hoi, closest to South Vietnam, and Dien Bien Phu, which had been an important logistics transfer point.

Back came U.S. fighter-bombers.

"Finally they gave up trying to repair them," a Pentagon spokesman said today.

At last report the fields, which could accommodate the supersonic MIG fighters, were still largely useless.

Exactly when the raids against the bases ceased is unclear. The last strike reported in military communiques occurred in February 1966 at Dien Bien Phu but Pentagon officials said this does not necessarily mean other raids were not conducted against supporting facilities — fuel dumps, barracks, terminals, warehouses — at the air fields.

Officially, the Pentagon said the fields were neutralized because they could have handled military flights bringing in military personnel and equipment.

county. And in some instances county lines would be crossed to form units.

"County lines were not ignored, but the board did not feel that it was bound by county lines," Stefanon said, adding that local school districts sometimes cross county lines.

In drawing the boundaries, Stefanon said, the board was guided by two criteria: student population and travel time within the unit. He added that a student population of 100,000 and travel time of not more than an hour from the unit office to any member school district had been the board's general goal.

The units are to be directed by nine-member boards, elected for three - year terms by school directors of the member districts.

Stefanon said the present timetable calls for school districts to meet between Dec. 4, 1967, and Jan. 15, 1968, to elect intermediate unit directors.

THE BOARD, he said, would allot each district a certain number of votes it may cast for each intermediate unit director candidate. The number of votes is to be determined by each district's student population.

Initially, directors are to be elected for staggered terms: three for one year, three for two years and three for three years. Thereafter, directors are to be elected for full three-year terms.

An intermediate unit director may succeed himself for two additional terms, Stefanom said. Unless there are fewer than nine school districts in a unit, at no time can more than one director from any member school district serve on the intermediate unit board.

They would be authorized to hire executive directors and other staff personnel and rent office space, Stefanon said. He added that the selection of a headquarters site would be left up to each unit.

Executive directors are to be selected for four - year terms, and are to receive $20,000 a year. Other salaries set by the board are assistant directors, $16,000 a year, and program specialists, $13,000.

THE BOARD set the following qualifications for executive directors and their assistants:

At least six years' experience in educational administration and supervision, at least three years of which has been in public schools.

A doctor's degree or at least 70 graduate semester hours, or completion of a training program approved by the state board.

In the first election only, a commission as county superintendent or assistant county superintendent valid for the term of office beginning in July 1966.

Stefanon said financial support for the intermediate units would come from three sources: local school districts, the state and federal funds.

For the first year of operation, he said, the state is to contribute slightly more than $5 million to the units.

The amount is about $1.4 million more than the state is now paying to finance the county superintendent system, Stefanon said, and the funds are to be computed and distributed according to the formula now used.

He added that the formula is based on the market value of school property and student population of the school districts.

In no instance, he said, would an intermediate unit receive less in state funds than the amount received during the 1966-67 school year by the county offices which the units are to replace.

Local calls here averaged 116,000 each day, while long-distance calls on the typical day averaged 6,500.

Of the $450,000 to be spent in the northeastern part of the county, some $90,000 will be allocated for switching equipment in the various exchange buildings to provide for growth in calls in the five communities.

About $100,000 will be spent to extend and re-route aerial and underground cable and conduit and for related equipment.

The balance, some $260,000, will be used for switchboards, phones and other equipment used by residence and business customers.

There were 420 new phones added in county communities last year as follows:

Columbiana, 135; East Palestine, 100; Leetonia, 80; Lisbon, 45; New Waterford, 45, and Rogers, 15.

2 Drivers Fined On Speed Counts

Two motorists cited by the State Highway Patrol on charges of speeding on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. were fined $15 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

They are Virginia A. Bosworth, 19, of 506 Oak Grove Rd., Wellsville, cited Sunday on a charge of driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone, and Michael F. Cook, 20, of 1060 Railroad St., arrested at 5:50 p. m. the same date on a charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone. Both were cited in a radar check, the patrol said.

Meanwhile, Edward Charles Brown, 42, of 417 Harrison St., Newell, appeared before the judge this morning and was instructed to report to City Jail to begin serving a three - day sentence imposed Jan. 4 on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Brown was cited Jan. 4 at 1:22 a. m. on E. 6th St. Imposition of the jail term was delayed because of the serious illness of a relative who later died. Brown had been free on a $500 bond in the meantime. He also was fined $250 and costs in his Jan. 4 court appearance.

The authority last night authorized letters to State Sen. John Longsworth and State Rep. Clarence Wetzel asking them to assist in obtaining further state funds should money be available from sources not utilized by other counties on the airport aid list.

FIRST PHASE of the project would be construction of a paved 4,000-foot southwest-northeast runway, 75 feet wide, plus aprons.

Laneve said the runway would be extended to 5,000 feet or more later.

The second phase of the project would be construction of taxiways and permanent buildings. The third phase would be construction of a north - south runway on the line of the present Swaney Airport north - south runway.

Authority members hope to get actual construction launched on the facility this year, but the start will depend on the final cost estimate of the project and the availability of funds.

The authority will meet within a few weeks with a representative of Mosure & Fok when the next phase of the plans is completed, Laneve said.

'Ladies Night' Dinner Held By Chester Lions

Forty-six members and guests attended.

Jefferson reviewed the "humanitarian and community services performed by Lions" and pointed out that more than $400 million has been devoted in projects in 120 countries. He also cited the Peace Essay contest as an endeavor to "bring about world peace and human understanding" on a local level.

He encouraged the club to give serious consideration to establishing a youth exchange program with other countries.

Clayton Hobbs Jr. was general chairman.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will represent the club at a district Golden Anniversary celebration at Wilson Lodge in Wheeling Saturday night.

U.S. Raids Knocked Out North Vietnam Airfields

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. warplanes knocked out North Vietnam's secondary airfields with a little-known series of bombing raids, sources said today. The raids apparently were halted sometime last year.

The United States has ruled only four major jet-capable bases in the Hanoi-Haiphong area off limits, the sources said.

In 1965 and 1966 American strikes devastated five all-weather air strips which the Communists could have used in a pinch for the operation of their small fleet of Soviet-made MIG fighters.

Twenty-nine bombing raids unleashed hundreds of tons of explosives in 1965 against bases at the former French stronghold of Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi; at the coastal city of Vinh, about 200 miles north of the demilitarized zone; at Na San, 100 miles west of Hanoi; and at Dong Hoi, another coastal town only 40 miles north of the DMZ.

Last year U.S. Jets clobbered Dien Bien Phu again after Communist construction teams had almost completed repairs; another strip at Phu Tho, 50 miles northwest of Hanoi in the heavily defended Red River valley was attacked.

The Phu Tho strip was a new base. U.S. planes waited until construction was almost finished, then streaked in with a destructive bombing sweep.

The Communists sought to fix up the bases for possible use, especially at Dong Hoi, closest to South Vietnam, and Dien Bien Phu, which had been an important logistics transfer point.

Back came U.S. fighter-bombers.

"Finally they gave up trying to repair them," a Pentagon spokesman said today.

At last report the fields, which could accommodate the supersonic MIG fighters, were still largely useless.

Exactly when the raids against the bases ceased is unclear. The last strike reported in military communiques occurred in February 1966 at Dien Bien Phu but Pentagon officials said this does not necessarily mean other raids were not conducted against supporting facilities — fuel dumps, barracks, terminals, warehouses — at the air fields.

Officially, the Pentagon said the fields were neutralized because they could have handled military flights bringing in military personnel and equipment.

county. And in some instances county lines would be crossed to form units.

"County lines were not ignored, but the board did not feel that it was bound by county lines," Stefanon said, adding that local school districts sometimes cross county lines.

In drawing the boundaries, Stefanon said, the board was guided by two criteria: student population and travel time within the unit. He added that a student population of 100,000 and travel time of not more than an hour from the unit office to any member school district had been the board's general goal.

The units are to be directed by nine-member boards, elected for three - year terms by school directors of the member districts.

Stefanon said the present timetable calls for school districts to meet between Dec. 4, 1967, and Jan. 15, 1968, to elect intermediate unit directors.

THE BOARD, he said, would allot each district a certain number of votes it may cast for each intermediate unit director candidate. The number of votes is to be determined by each district's student population.

Initially, directors are to be elected for staggered terms: three for one year, three for two years and three for three years. Thereafter, directors are to be elected for full three-year terms.

An intermediate unit director may succeed himself for two additional terms, Stefanom said. Unless there are fewer than nine school districts in a unit, at no time can more than one director from any member school district serve on the intermediate unit board.

Stefanon said the first unit directors would serve as planning committees to prepare for the establishment of the units themselves on July 1, 1968.

They would be authorized to hire executive directors and other staff personnel and rent office space, Stefanon said. He added that the selection of a headquarters site would be left up to each unit.

Executive directors are to be selected for four - year terms, and are to receive $20,000 a year. Other salaries set by the board are assistant directors, $16,000 a year, and program specialists, $13,000.

THE BOARD set the following qualifications for executive directors and their assistants:

At least six years' experience in educational administration and supervision, at least three years of which has been in public schools.

A doctor's degree or at least 70 graduate semester hours, or completion of a training program approved by the state board.

In the first election only, a commission as county superintendent or assistant county superintendent valid for the term of office beginning in July 1966.

Stefanon said financial support for the intermediate units would come from three sources: local school districts, the state and federal funds.

For the first year of operation, he said, the state is to contribute slightly more than $5 million to the units.

The amount is about $1.4 million more than the state is now paying to finance the county superintendent system, Stefanon said, and the funds are to be computed and distributed according to the formula now used.

He added that the formula is based on the market value of school property and student population of the school districts.

In no instance, he said, would an intermediate unit receive less in state funds than the amount received during the 1966-67 school year by the county offices which the units are to replace.

Local calls here averaged 116,000 each day, while long-distance calls on the typical day averaged 6,500.

Of the $450,000 to be spent in the northeastern part of the county, some $90,000 will be allocated for switching equipment in the various exchange buildings to provide for growth in calls in the five communities.

About $100,000 will be spent to extend and re-route aerial and underground cable and conduit and for related equipment.

The balance, some $260,000, will be used for switchboards, phones and other equipment used by residence and business customers.

There were 420 new phones added in county communities last year as follows:

Columbiana, 135; East Palestine, 100; Leetonia, 80; Lisbon, 45; New Waterford, 45, and Rogers, 15.

2 Drivers Fined On Speed Counts

Two motorists cited by the State Highway Patrol on charges of speeding on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. were fined $15 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

They are Virginia A. Bosworth, 19, of 506 Oak Grove Rd., Wellsville, cited Sunday on a charge of driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone, and Michael F. Cook, 20, of 1060 Railroad St., arrested at 5:50 p. m. the same date on a charge of driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone. Both were cited in a radar check, the patrol said.

Meanwhile, Edward Charles Brown, 42, of 417 Harrison St., Newell, appeared before the judge this morning and was instructed to report to City Jail to begin serving a three - day sentence imposed Jan. 4 on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Brown was cited Jan. 4 at 1:22 a. m. on E. 6th St. Imposition of the jail term was delayed because of the serious illness of a relative who later died. Brown had been free on a $500 bond in the meantime. He also was fined $250 and costs in his Jan. 4 court appearance.

the Federal Aviation Administration.

The authority last night authorized letters to State Sen. John Longsworth and State Rep. Clarence Wetzel asking them to assist in obtaining further state funds should money be available from sources not utilized by other counties on the airport aid list.

FIRST PHASE of the project would be construction of a paved 4,000-foot southwest-northeast runway, 75 feet wide, plus aprons.

Laneve said the runway would be extended to 5,000 feet or more later.

The second phase of the project would be construction of taxiways and permanent buildings. The third phase would be construction of a north - south runway on the line of the present Swaney Airport north - south runway.

Authority members hope to get actual construction launched on the facility this year, but the start will depend on the final cost estimate of the project and the availability of funds.

The authority will meet within a few weeks with a representative of Mosure & Fok when the next phase of the plans is completed, Laneve said.

Children's Home Bills Okayed At Hancock Session

Children's Home bills were approved for payment during the meeting of the Hancock County Court of Commissioners Thursday at the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

The matter of appointments to the Hancock County Planning Commission were tabled pending further study relative to a letter received from Oliver Johnson, commission secretary.

Johnson pointed out that a separate planning commission exists in the city of Weirton and requested that county members be chosen from outside the city.

Payday for county employes was set for Jan. 25.

Discussion was held regarding the transfer of funds to the Hancock - Brooke Mental Health Society as requested by Dr. Ray Greco of Weirton.

The court authorized a letter to be written to the tax commissioner requesting the transfer with the provision that funds may be applied against billing to the county court for care of Hancock County residents in state institutions.

Jack Evans, court president, was named as a representative to the county extension and 4-H committees.

A Look At The School Problem

Commenting on the "evaluation" of David Anderson High School at Lisbon by a state Department of Education consultant, Dr. Wade A. Bacon, president of the Lisbon school board, presented some thoughts that deserve consideration as the problem of providing a proper education for our youngsters looms bigger and bigger.

Dr. Bacon, who is president of the North East Ohio School Boards Association and a trustee of the state association, says the days of the small school district and small high school are numbered and that school districts must combine so they will be large enough to support a broad educational program and complementary pupil services.

His thinking reflects that of many other educators in the tri-state district and on higher levels.

Financial demands here and elsewhere in the county as the result of levy defeats and a proposal just presented in Pennsylvania for adjustments point up the need for action.

In this respect, a recommendation of the state Board of Education that is to be placed before the Ohio General Assembly advocating additional school district reorganization appears sound.

At a time when education costs are rising rapidly, any program for consolidating costs through centralization of services deserves serious thought.

The recent voting in some districts makes it obvious that additional funds are going to be hard to come by.

This makes it doubly important for lawmakers to concentrate on measures designed to get the most out of each dollar spent and stress wise use of federal grants.

Implementation of an intermediate district program could well be the answer to providing adequate to smaller districts within its jurisdiction when local levies are defeated.

Educational systems should not suffer because taxpayers in the district demonstrate at the ballot box that they will no longer carry the increasing burden.

Since Gov. James Rhodes has tabbed improvement education as the No. 1 goal of 1967, Ohioans will be waiting anxiously to see how the General Assembly responds to the taxpayers' request for help.

Another 'Scare'

Just when the "scare" season appeared to have run its course in the area, bomb threats have reared their ugly head again.

This time anonymous calls forced the evacuation of Oak Glen and Wellsville high schools with warnings that bombs were about to go off.

The whole thing turned out to be a hoax, but as school officials pointed out "We can't ignore the calls." As a result, pupils in some instances had to be sent out into the cold and police, firemen and others were forced to spend hours checking for the "bombs."

It all adds up to a waste of valuable time in many directions because some nut, or nuts, with a depraved sense of humor played what was considered a practical joke.

The nut or nuts would do well to direct their energies toward more constructive enterprises—if they realize what the word constructive means.

Sensible Reclamation Approach

The bill introduced by Ohio's Sen. Frank J. Lausche is a sensible approach to strip mining reclamation.

Sen Lausche is qualified to sponsor the Mined Lands Conservation Act jointly with Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

Sen. Lausche has been a long time adversary of irresponsible strip mining procedures, has studied the problem extensively and submitted previous bills.

A 1965 measure required a report from the Department of the Interior on surface and strip mining. An interim report June 30 indicated the federal government has responsibility to cooperate with states in formulating strip mine laws and to assist in reclaiming pre-state law spoil banks.

IT HAS BEEN argued in the past that mining operators in some states cannot carry through a sound reclamation procedure because the cost would place them at an unfair price advantage with their competitors.

It also has been argued that regulations should be a state matter and federal intervention would be nothing short of meddling.

First, once federal controls were established, they would apply in all states without state laws or where they are too weak to be effective.

States that have sufficiently strong laws will administer them as they have in the past.

Secondly, with all operators required to meet the same standards, no competitive advantage will be won by any.

THE PROPOSAL even includes a clause to insure fairness of the eventual federal regulations.

The national advisory committee that would recommend final federal standards is to include coal mine owners and operators to safeguard against standards so stringent as to be unfair.

Mirror, Mirror . . .

By Truman Twill

The ruckus over the portrait of himself that President Johnson rejected because he thought it was the "ugliest thing he ever saw" reminds many of us of our own experiences with portraiture.

Few of us have been depicted by an uptown portrait painter whose usual fee is $12,000, but we've had our troubles with limners, meaning people who profess to show us as we are.

They never do.

What we really are is the image we see in the mirror.

We have extraordinary dignity. Our smile is dazzling. When we frown, to show displeasure, it is like thunderclouds on Mt. Olympus.

Our hair has a sheen to it that makes us think of sunny days in June. Our teeth are pearly. We dimple just enough when we smile to have an utterly devastating effect.

Our general conformation, as we view ourselves full length, is that of a thoroughbred. Everything we do is graceful. We are lithe as cats and have the hidden strength of ballet dancers.

When we toss our heads, like so, we are like wild, unspoiled creatures that never have known fear. Something about our visages is reminiscent of the innate strength of character that distinguished the major saints.

It is as though we were human perfection personified. We even have those few precious flaws that great artists say are the crowning touch of beauty in human beings.

Then, with this fixed in our minds, we let a bubblehead take a picture of us, or make a sketch, and the horror of malicious misrepresentation fells us the way a slaughterhouse sledge fells a beef.

The misrepresentation makes it appear we were put together on the last run of an assembly line being closed down for lack of material.

We are an assemblage of mismatched parts.

Our hair looks as if it had been scraped off the underside of a wet rock. We have claws for hands and hooves for feet.

Our teeth are crooked, our complexions mottled, our heads bulgy and our legs saddle-bowed. Our torsos are puffy and our shoulders bent.

The net effect is a poster for a horror movie.

Maybe we should bone up on self-portraiture so all of us could look the way we look in the mirror. Maybe we could, huh, maybe we could.

Maybe we will.

A religious belief caused India's Sepoy Rebellion in 1857. The religion of the Moslems forbade the use of pork and the rebellion against the British in India resulted because the English commanders foolishly gave their Moslem troops bullets which had to be greased with lard.

The President's Portrait

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

It seems a pity that after all President Johnson has done for the arts, the least the artists could do is paint a decent portrait of him. Last week it was revealed that the President angrily rejected artist Peter Hurd's commissioned portrait of him as "the ugliest thing I ever saw." Mr. Johnson, whose taste in paintings leans more toward Norman Rockwell's magazine style, objected to the Hurd portrait on the ground that it was too large, the Capitol building in the background was too prominently lit and "inappropriate," and the positioning of the figure and the general style was not consistent with other White House portraits.

Art Buchwald

Many people, including art critics and museum directors, have come to the defense of Hurd. But as has been the case lately, very few people have come to the defense of the President. I wish to be included in the minority.

I BELIEVE the President had every right to reject a portrait of himself if it didn't fit the image of himself. The likeness of the President as I saw it in photographs leaves much to be desired.

In Hurd's portrait the President seems to be looking off dreamily into the distance as if searching for a consensus or a friendly congressman. His lips are set as though he has just had a conference with a group of Democratic governors. His chin looks as if he's just heard a report from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge on Vietnam and his nose looks as if he's just smelled another resignation in his White House staff.

The suit he is wearing is dark and conservative, with a vest, giving the impression the President might be a wealthy real estate man or a successful television station owner. And the book he is holding in his hand looks as if it could have been written by Arthur Schlesinger.

But forgetting the portrait for a moment, anybody could see why the President would object to the way Hurd positioned the Capitol in the background.

Anyone who knows the President's personality should have been aware that the only way to pose the President in such a picture was to have him standing on the Capitol itself, with one foot on the Senate and the other on the House of Representatives.

Also, if Hurd had studied his subject more closely, he would have painted the light shining over the Capitol coming from the President's face and not from within the Capitol itself.

In the commisioned portrait, President Johnson objected to the size of the Capitol, which is one-sixth the size of the President. The implication from the portrait can be clearly drawn that the Capitol plays a great part in the President's life, when anyone who lives here knows the exact opposite is true.

I THINK Hurd owes it to the President to try again. He could start by showing the President smiling as if he just heard that Bobby Kennedy had an accident while skiing. Instead of a book, he could be holding a 1964 Lou Harris or George Gallup opinion poll.

And instead of the Capitol, Hurd could paint in the LBJ ranch or the Pedernales River.

Many museums are bidding for Hurd's portrait, but I think it would be unfair if it were publicly displayed, particularly when people know the President doesn't approve of it.

You can say anything you want to about President Johnson's taste in art, but at least he knows what he likes.

Teamsters Ready To Bargain

This will be a year of major wage negotiations. Six craft unions in railroads are now negotiating. United Rubber Workers, strategic to major industry, tackles the rubber Big Four on April 20.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the 1.5 million United Automobile Workers, has been taking so far a hard-nosed attitude about renewal of contracts that expire this year.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters begins bargaining on new wage and benefits contracts on Tuesday (Jan. 17).

Formal negotiations with 17 transcontinental truck lines beginning this month cover 7,500 companies and 450,000 workers. The numbers are not impressive in themselves. But if the so-called guidelines blow in the trucking industry, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the union's president, James. R. Hoffa, may push the Johnson administration into advocating emergency strike legislation.

The wage-price guidelines the administration advocates were established by the President's Council of Economic Advisers in 1962. The general guide for wages is that "the percentage increase in total compensation per man-hour be equal to the national trend rate of increase in output per man-hour." The price guideline calls for "stable prices in industries enjoying the same productivity growth as the average for the economy; rising prices in industries with smaller than average productivity gains, and declining prices in industries with greater than average productivity gains."

UNDER THE Council of Economic Advisers' formula, wage increases should aggregate no more than 3.2 per cent. Some argue that the productivity figure should be lifted to 3.6 per cent on a more advanced basis of calculation.

Union labor in general hasn't been buying the guidelines, but the wind blows the straws both ways.

Major wage settlements in 1966 provided for pay increases of 3.8 per cent, but some wages were boosted much higher, without significant White House objection. The International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the nation's largest individual union, is asking for wage increases up to 7 per cent.

Murray J. Gart, writing in "Fortune," predicts "a round of very large wage increases—possibly accompanied by strikes—like nothing the U.S. has seen in the last decade."

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said on Dec. 1: "Some important major contracts will be coming up and that's reason enough for concern. But more important is the unsettled and unstable condition of national wage-and-price movements."

Hoffa on Jan. 5 said that any teamsters strike this year would be limited in scope, to prevent it from causing a national crisis. This sweet reasonableness is not characteristic.

Teamsters sources earlier had hinted that the union might settle for wage increases ranging from 2.5 per cent to about 5 per cent in a three-year contract.

Three reasons can be put forward for an eventual retreat from the new 7 per cent goal: (1) Fear that pushing too hard against the guidelines at this time might goad the Johnson administration into urging (instead of talking about) antistrike legislation. (2) realization that the November elections cost labor some of the power it held in Congress, and (3) real concern that the nation's economy could turn up with a bear instead of a tiger in its tank.

This 'n That

The largest town in the world, in area, is Kiruna, Sweden, whose boundaries have for fiscal-avoidance purposes, been extended to include an area of 5,458 square miles.

Members of the deer family range in size from "giants" to "midgets" — from the massive moose which weighs up to 1,400 pounds, down to the pudu, which weighs a mere 24 pounds.

The widest street in the world is the Monumental Axis, which runs for 1½ miles in the city of Brasilia, capital of Brazil. This six-lane boulevard, which was opened in April of 1960, is 273 yards wide.

Morality

By Raymond Moley

There Can Be Only One Standard

Controversy over Adam Clayton Powell will have repercussions in the Negro community and the nation generally long after determination by the House of his qualifications to sit as a member and serve as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee.

In his own defense and the arguments of his supporters, two questions were raised which go far beyond Powell's personal life and official status.

The first was whether Powell should be punished for official behavior which in various degrees has been practiced by other members and chairmen in the House of Representatives. It requires no new investigation to show some members have abused their powers and privileges.

Two practices have been common. One is the practice of junkets at public expense which have little to do with duties of House members. Some of these trips abroad have been facilitated by the presence in various countries of "counterpart funds."

This money is in foreign currencies. It belongs to the United States, but cannot be brought back to the United States. With few exceptions, it must be spent in the countries where it has accumulated.

Congressmen traveling abroad have used these funds for purposes not specifically relevant to official business.

DEMOCRATIC Committeemen have loaded their staffs with people of their own political persuasion and with relatives and friends. Because of the overwhelming Democratic majority in the House and in committees, the Republican minority has been denied adequate staff facilities for legitimate committee work.

Some members have protested, but without avail. Unless drastic corrective measures are taken, the prestige of the House as a legislative body will suffer.

The other question raised by Powell and his defenders and supporters is whether the demand for disciplinary action was raised because Powell is a Negro. Powell brought up this point in his statement.

He said the outcry in the press and in the House "has not only been mounted against Adam Clayton Powell but against black political leadership, black people and black progress."

The ostensible reason for the movement for civil rights has been that Negroes should be admitted to a status of equality with white people. That is what integration means.

But admission to the national community means acceptance of responsibility. Such responsibility means adherence to the moral laws, standards and practices which prevail in our civilization.

THESE MORAL standards have been violated in the white world but that does not mean Powell and his defenders are entitled to choose a low standard of behavior.

Responsibility calls for adherence to the normal standards observed by the great majority of public servants — congressmen in this case.

If the lower standards which Powell has cited prevailed generally, our governmental structure would collapse.

Powell or any Negro in public office must, if there is to be acceptance of the principle of equality, be measured against an average, not the least worthy of his colleagues. Enough is known to make it flagrantly evident that Powell's behavior has not met normal standards.

Negro leaders claim there should be a single moral standard. But to defend Powell on the ground that he is a Negro is to call not for one but for two standards. That destroys the case for equality of treatment.

A Look At The School Problem

Commenting on the "evaluation" of David Anderson High School at Lisbon by a state Department of Education consultant, Dr. Wade A. Bacon, president of the Lisbon school board, presented some thoughts that deserve consideration as the problem of providing a proper education for our youngsters looms bigger and bigger.

Dr. Bacon, who is president of the North East Ohio School Boards Association and a trustee of the state association, says the days of the small school district and small high school are numbered and that school districts must combine so they will be large enough to support a broad educational program and complementary pupil services.

His thinking reflects that of many other educators in the tri-state district and on higher levels.

Financial demands here and elsewhere in the county as the result of levy defeats and a proposal just presented in Pennsylvania for adjustments point up the need for action.

In this respect, a recommendation of the state Board of Education that is to be placed before the Ohio General Assembly advocating additional school district reorganization appears sound.

At a time when education costs are rising rapidly, any program for consolidating costs through centralization of services deserves serious thought.

The recent voting in some districts makes it obvious that additional funds are going to be hard to come by.

This makes it doubly important for lawmakers to concentrate on measures designed to get the most out of each dollar spent and stress wise use of federal grants.

Implementation of an intermediate district program could well be the answer to providing adequate to smaller districts within its jurisdiction when local levies are defeated.

Educational systems should not suffer because taxpayers in the district demonstrate at the ballot box that they will no longer carry the increasing burden.

Since Gov. James Rhodes has tabbed improvement education as the No. 1 goal of 1967, Ohioans will be waiting anxiously to see how the General Assembly responds to the taxpayers' request for help.

Another 'Scare'

Just when the "scare" season appeared to have run its course in the area, bomb threats have reared their ugly head again.

This time anonymous calls forced the evacuation of Oak Glen and Wellsville high schools with warnings that bombs were about to go off.

The whole thing turned out to be a hoax, but as school officials pointed out "We can't ignore the calls." As a result, punils in some instances had to be sent out into the cold and police, firemen and others were forced to spend hours checking for the "bombs."

It all adds up to a waste of valuable time in many directions because some nut, or nuts, with a depraved sense of humor played what was considered a practical joke.

The nut or nuts would do well to direct their energies toward more constructive enterprises—if they realize what the word constructive means.

Sensible Reclamation Approach

The bill introduced by Ohio's Sen. Frank J. Lausche is a sensible approach to strip mining reclamation.

Sen Lausche is qualified to sponsor the Mined Lands Conservation Act jointly with Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

Sen. Lausche has been a long time adversary of irresponsible strip mining procedures, has studied the problem extensively and submitted previous bills.

A 1965 measure required a report from the Department of the Interior on surface and strip mining. An interim report June 30 indicated the federal government has responsibility to cooperate with states in formulating strip mine laws and to assist in reclaiming pre-state law spoil banks.

IT HAS BEEN argued in the past that mining operators in some states cannot carry through a sound reclamation procedure because the cost would place them at an unfair price advantage with their competitors.

It also has been argued that regulations should be a state matter and federal intervention would be nothing short of meddling.

First, once federal controls were established, they would apply in all states without state laws or where they are too weak to be effective.

States that have sufficiently strong laws will administer them as they have in the past.

Secondly, with all operators required to meet the same standards, no competitive advantage will be won by any.

THE PROPOSAL even includes a clause to insure fairness of the eventual federal regulations.

The national advisory committee that would recommend final federal standards is to include coal mine owners and operators to safeguard against standards so stringent as to be unfair.

Mirror, Mirror . . .

By Truman Twill

The ruckus over the portrait of himself that President Johnson rejected because he thought it was the "ughest thing he ever saw" reminds many of us of our own experiences with portraiture.

Few of us have been depicted by an uptown portrait painter whose usual fee is $12,000, but we've had our troubles with limners, meaning people who profess to show us as we are.

They never do.

What we really are is the image we see in the mirror.

We have extraordinary dignity. Our smile is dazzling. When we frown, to show displeasure, it is like thunderclouds on Mt. Olympus.

Our hair has a sheen to it that makes us think of sunny days in June. Our teeth are pearly. We dimple just enough when we smile to have an utterly devastating effect.

Our general conformation, as we view ourselves full length, is that of a thoroughbred. Everything we do is graceful. We are lithe as cats and have the hidden strength of ballet dancers.

When we toss our heads, like so, we are like wild, unspoiled creatures that never have known fear. Something about our visages is reminiscent of the innate strength of character that distinguished the major saints.

It is as though we were human perfection personified. We even have those few precious flaws that great artists say are the crowning touch of beauty in human beings.

Then, with this fixed in our minds, we let a bubblehead take a picture of us, or make a sketch, and the horror of malicious misrepresentation fells us the way a slaughterhouse sledge fells a beef.

The misrepresentation makes it appear we were put together on the last run of an assembly line being closed down for lack of material.

We are an assemblage of mismatched parts.

Our hair looks as if it had been scraped off the underside of a wet rock. We have claws for hands and hooves for feet.

Our teeth are crooked, our complexions mottled, our heads bulgy and our legs saddle-bowed. Our torsos are puffy and our shoulders bent.

The net effect is a poster for a horror movie.

Maybe we should bone up on self-portraiture so all of us could look the way we look in the mirror. Maybe we could, huh, maybe we could.

Maybe we will.

House Trailer Owners Are Reminded Of Tax

LISBON — The 1967 tax on house trailers in Columbiana County is due this month, Auditor Kenneth Bell reminds owners.

The tax applies to all trailers in use — even for storage.

Bell said owners should bring their title or purchase certificate to his office in the courthouse where deputies will figure the tax. Jan. 31 is the penalty-free deadline.

Owners whose trailers are registered with the auditor may request a statement rather than make the trip to the Courthouse.

House trailer owners in Ohio must register them with the county auditor on or before the tax is due.

Bell said the full-year tax is payable even if the trailer leaves the state before the year ends. However, trailers locating in the county after Jan. 1 and prior to Dec. 31, 1967, will have their tax pro-rated. The entire pro-rated amount will be payable 30 days after the trailer moves in.

The county collected tax on 855 house trailers last year. This tax is figured on the tax valuation of the trailer multiplied by the real estate tax rate where the trailer is located. The tax on a new $5,000 trailer could run between $60 and $70, depending upon the district. There is a minimum tax of $18.

Non-payment of taxes as set forth above makes the owner subject to a penalty of $5 or 10 per cent of the total tax, whichever is greater, Bell said.

Election Change Will Affect Trustees Of Public Affairs

A recent change in Ohio law will affect the procedure in electing members of the Boards of Trustees of Public Affairs in 1967 in Lisbon, Leetonia and Columbiana villages, the County Election Board reminded prospective candidates today.

Each community will elect two members of the board for four - year terms and one for a two-year term. In subsequent elections, all will be chosen for four-year terms. The procedure is in line with a changeover to four - year terms set up under Ohio law.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, pointed out that candidates for the Boards of Trustees of Public Affairs must stipulate on their declarations of candidacy whether they are seeking one of the four-year terms or the two-year term. The step is necessary in order that the candidates may be listed properly on the ballot, she pointed out.

The candidates must file by Feb. 1 at 4 p.m. to seek ballot places for the primary elections on May 2.

Leetonia, Columbiana, and Lisbon are the county's three villages over 2,000 population and as a result will hold primaries. Villages over 2,000 also will elect mayors for four - year terms for the first time. Two members of Village Councils will be named for four - year terms, as will the village clerk or clerk - treasurer, depending upon whether or not the offices have been combined. Four members of village Councils were elected two years ago for four - year terms and two more were named for two-year terms.

For the first time, Ohio cities also will be electing their mayors and solicitors for four-year terms.

20% Of Viet Aid Seen Lost Through Theft, Diversion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ernest Gruening says 20 per cent — or $91 million — of U.S. economic aid to Vietnam was lost through theft and diversion last year.

And the Alaska Democrat, chairman of a Senate subcommittee on foreign aid, added that his 20 per cent estimate probably was low. He noted that some other sources had estimated losses as high as 40 to 50 per cent.

Another member of Congress joined Gruening today in doubting that the loss in Vietnam aid through theft and diversion is as low as the government's official 5 to 6 per cent estimate.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House Foreign Operations subcommittee, said "no one really knows what the figure is." He added that if the 5 to 6 per cent estimate made by the Agency for International Development is correct, "They have indeed achieved a miracle."

Gruening's estimate Thursday of 20 per cent losses for the year was close to that reported in a series of Associated Press articles in November following a two-month investigation by a team of AP newsmen. Some knowledgeable persons in Vietnam told the AP team that loss percentages might run to 40 per cent.

AID Administrator William S. Gaud reported to President Johnson Monday that losses were no more than 5 to 6 per cent "in recent months." He later told reporters that by "recent months" he meant the final two months of the year. Estimates out of Saigon earlier that day applying the 5-to-6 per cent loss figure to all of 1966 were in error, Gaud said.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Charles E. Pierson, 61, former managing editor of the Pittsburgh Press and executive editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, died Thursday. Pierson, after 10 years with the St. Louis newspaper, resigned in 1966 to become program director of the St. Louis football Cardinals.

D. 3, $20 and costs for speeding; Lawrence R. Meade of N. Surry Rd., $5 and costs for stop sign violation; James E. Lovett of 768 Minerva St., $35 and costs for speeding, and James O. Whitehill of 7th Ave. LaCroft, $15 and costs for speeding.

John Edward Adams of Lisbon R. D. 1 was found not guilty on a charge of speeding. Harold F. Calhoun of Annesly Rd., R.D. 1, pleaded innocent to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. His hearing was continued to Jan. 30.

Hearings were continued to next Thursday for Karen L. Sparks of 1014 Huston Ave., charged with operating a vehicle with one headlight, and Robert F. Svobada of 707 Jackson St., charged with a stop sign violation.

Lloyd D. Townsend of New Waterford R. D. 1 was given a suspended fine of $5 and costs for speeding.

Others fined were Donald E. Dilling of East Palestine, $30 and costs, unsafe vehicle; Daniel Keith Duncan of 1831 Main St., Wellsville, $30 and costs, speed; Raymond L. Felger of East Palestine R. D. 1, $50 and costs and driving rights suspended 30 days, speed for conditions; Jack M. Morrell of Lisbon R. D. 4, $30 and costs, speed; Richard Daniel Noling of Negley R. D. 1, $30 and costs and driving rights suspended 10 days, speed for conditions; Mark F. Stone of Lisbon R. D. 4, $10 and costs, speed for conditions, and Linda K. Stuckey of Rogers R. D. 1, $20 and costs, speed for conditions.

Albert O. Leatherberry of Lisbon R. D. 2 forfeited a $15 bond when he failed to appear on a charge of speeding.

Judge Continues Robbery Hearing

A hearing was continued for a week for Donald James Hoyt, 23, formerly of the Echo Dell Trailer Court in St. Clair Township, when he appeared for arraignment Thursday in Columbiana County Eastern Court at East Palestine on a charge of armed robbery.

Judge D. Barry Dickson continued the case until next Thursday to allow Hoyt to obtain counsel. Hoyt's bond was set at $2,500.

The charge was filed by Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan. The defendant was taken into custody at Mobile, Ala.

A hearing also was continued until next Thursday for George W. Corbin of New Waterford R.D. 1, who is charged with intent to defraud. His bond was set at $500.

Installation Held By Club At Wellsville

Officers and directors were installed by Lt. Gov. Jack Beck of Lisbon when the Wellsville Kiwanis Club held "Ladies Night" Thursday at Meade's Restaurant.

Installed were Lloyd H. Rhodes, president; Harold D. Reed, first vice president; Donald W. Penn, second vice president; Thomas Piatt, treasurer, and William Bush, secretary.

Piatt was awarded a pin for 12 years' perfect attendance. Other attendance award winners were Bush, six years; Cedric Stanway, five years, and Rhodes, Lowell Myers and Joseph Hall, one year.

Delmar T. O'Hara and his wife, dressed in Indian costumes, reviewed their trip around the world.

House Trailer Owners Are Reminded Of Tax

LISBON — The 1967 tax on house trailers in Columbiana County is due this month, Auditor Kenneth Bell reminds owners.

The tax applies to all trailers in use — even for storage.

Bell said owners should bring their title or purchase certificate to his office in the courthouse where deputies will figure the tax. Jan. 31 is the penalty-free deadline.

Owners whose trailers are registered with the auditor may request a statement rather than make the trip to the Courthouse.

House trailer owners in Ohio must register them with the county auditor on or before the tax is due.

Bell said the full-year tax is payable even if the trailer leaves the state before the year ends. However, trailers locating in the county after Jan. 1 and prior to Dec. 31, 1967, will have their tax pro-rated. The entire pro-rated amount will be payable 30 days after the trailer moves in.

The county collected tax on 855 house trailers last year. This tax is figured on the tax valuation of the trailer multiplied by the real estate tax rate where the trailer is located. The tax on a new $5,000 trailer could run between $60 and $70, depending upon the district. There is a minimum tax of $18.

Non-payment of taxes as set forth above makes the owner subject to a penalty of $5 or 10 per cent of the total tax, whichever is greater, Bell said.

Election Change Will Affect Trustees Of Public Affairs

A recent change in Ohio law will affect the procedure in electing members of the Boards of Trustees of Public Affairs in 1967 in Lisbon, Leetonia and Columbiana villages, the County Election Board reminded prospective candidates today.

Each community will elect two members of the board for four - year terms and one for a two-year term. In subsequent elections, all will be chosen for four-year terms. The procedure is in line with a changeover to four - year terms set up under Ohio law.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, pointed out that candidates for the Boards of Trustees of Public Affairs must stipulate on their declarations of candidacy whether they are seeking one of the four-year terms or the two-year term. The step is necessary in order that the candidates may be listed properly on the ballot, she pointed out.

The candidates must file by Feb. 1 at 4 p.m. to seek ballot places for the primary elections on May 2.

Leetonia, Columbiana, and Lisbon are the county's three villages over 2,000 population and as a result will hold primaries. Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
Size is the only factor in the value of a diamond.

FACT:
Many other elements other than size enter into the beauty and value of a fine diamond. The presence of imperfections can mar even a large stone. The manner of cutting has much to do with the brilliance, and "color" also affects a diamond's market value.

CONCLUSION:
When you're looking for a precious diamond, let us help you choose one whose quality and value we can guarantee.

Welfare Commissioner Consents

Couple Wins Year Fight For Adoption Of Girl, 4

TILLSON, N.Y. (AP) — "Beth was the calmest person in the house," said her foster father, Michael Liuni, after he and his wife won a year-long battle to adopt the blonde four-year-old.

Liuni, an $8,900-a-year technician for International Business Machines, said he himself was "stunned and bewildered" after learning Thursday that the Ulster County welfare commissioner is reluctantly consenting to the adoption of Beth by the Liunis.

The commissioner, Joseph Fitzsimmons, had opposed the adoption because of the dark complexion of the Liunis, an Italian-American couple, in contrast to the light coloring of Beth. Fitzsimmons also claimed that the Liunis were too old. Both are 48.

Fitzsimmons told a news conference Thursday: "Firmly convinced as I am that this is not a prudent or proper disposition, I shall sign the necessary consent, and place full responsibility for this decision on those who have flagrantly disregarded all principles, concepts and guidelines relating to adoption proceedings.

"The responsibility for the improper placement of this child must rest with the court-appointed investigator, the special guardian — whose report praises me and condemns me in the same breath — and the court, who virtually insists on my consent to this adoption."

Surrogate Judge R. Waldron Herzberg said he was fully prepared to accept responsibility, both for his own acts and for those of the two investigators he had appointed. He said he would be in his chambers Monday to discuss the matter with attorneys and sign the adoption order.

The Liunis, who have cared for Beth since she was five days old, have three natural children: Albertha, 18, Joseph, 13, and Michael, 14, who is studying for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary in Montour Falls, N.Y.

The Liunis learned of Fitzsimmons' decision over the radio. Mrs. Liuni and her two married sisters burst into tears of joy when they heard the news on the radio.

Liuni calls Beth an all-American girl. She was born, he said, on July 4, 1962.

An ordination and installation service will be held Sunday for Walter Blythe, William McGranahan and Paul Young, three-year terms; Mrs. Dorothy Ward — the church's first woman elder — Al Marquis and Howard Blanchard, two-year terms, and Herman McDevitt, Lester Blanchard and Merle Devitt, one-year terms.

Welfare Commissioner Consents

TILLSON, N.Y. (AP) — "Beth was the calmest person in the house," said her foster father, Michael Liuni, after he and his wife won a year-long battle to adopt the blonde four-year-old.

Liuni, an $8,900-a-year technician for International Business Machines, said he himself was "stunned and bewildered" after learning Thursday that the Ulster County welfare commissioner is reluctantly consenting to the adoption of Beth by the Liunis.

The commissioner, Joseph Fitzsimmons, had opposed the adoption because of the dark complexion of the Liunis, an Italian-American couple, in contrast to the light coloring of Beth. Fitzsimmons also claimed that the Liunis were too old. Both are 48.

Fitzsimmons told a news conference Thursday: "Firmly convinced as I am that this is not a prudent or proper disposition, I shall sign the necessary consent, and place full responsibility for this decision on those who have flagrantly disregarded all principles, concepts and guidelines relating to adoption proceedings.

"The responsibility for the improper placement of this child must rest with the court-appointed investigator, the special guardian — whose report praises me and condemns me in the same breath — and the court, who virtually insists on my consent to this adoption."

Surrogate Judge R. Waldron Herzberg said he was fully prepared to accept responsibility, both for his own acts and for those of the two investigators he had appointed. He said he would be in his chambers Monday to discuss the matter with attorneys and sign the adoption order.

The Liunis, who have cared for Beth since she was five days old, have three natural children: Albertha, 18, Joseph, 13, and Michael, 14, who is studying for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary in Montour Falls, N.Y.

The Liunis learned of Fitzsimmons' decision over the radio. Mrs. Liuni and her two married sisters burst into tears of joy when they heard the news on the radio.

Liuni calls Beth an all-American girl. She was born, he said, on July 4, 1962.

Squire Herron fined each $30 and costs and sentenced each to 20 days in jail. The confinement will be extended to 30 days in default of payment of the fines, he said.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

74-Year-Old Liar

When a man will lie about his age he'll lie about anything — including his golf score. Bill Demarest, for example, claims to be 75 and says it's only the magic of the makeup man on "My Three Sons" which makes his Uncle Charley O'Casey character look around 60.

Hal Humphrey

But I know he's lying because we played 13 holes of golf, and no 75-year-old man can beat me by 12 strokes the way this phony did. By the time we reached the third green he pretended he was tired.

-:-

"I USUALLY ride a cart," he whimpered, but the way he was chasing up and down the hills at Bel Air Country Club reminded me of those scenes in "Treasure of Sierra Madre" where Walter Huston wore out tough Humphrey Bogart and young Tim Holt.

To keep up this sham about his age, Bill kept dropping bits of his memoirs into the conversation. After blasting his tee shot over 200 yards down the middle of the No. 4 fairway he said, "By golly, this country around here reminds me of Ridgewood, N.J. My brothers and I played the Ridgewood Opera House in 1899, sang songs and played the cello, I did."

"YEAH? Well let's hear a few bars of the hit song of 1899," I countered.

"Okay. How about 'Dear Sing Sing'? I can remember every line — 'Dear Sing Sing, they don't charge you any admission and they give you a bath right away. . . .' "

"Hold it, I believe you!" I shouted, then missed a two-foot putt. "How did you and your brothers get out of Ridgewood alive?"

"It wasn't easy. They sent a posse after us, but we changed our names to the Demarestio Brothers and billed ourselves as 'European Entertainers.' Then our agent, Lee Muckenfus, got us booked in Salt Lake City," said Bill, as he smacked another drive right into the dogleg on No. 5.

"You changed songs, I hope."

"WE HAD 50 of 'em. One of our big numbers was 'It Takes the Irish To Beat the Dutch.' We sang that one at the old Bijou in Honolulu. That was in 1910. I remember, because it was the year of the Jeffries-Johnson fight in Reno, and I hated to miss it." Bill rattled on, laying his chip shot within a foot of the cup at No. 5.

By the time we teed off on the back nine, Bill had left his brothers and joined the late Ole Olsen and Chick Johnson with a show called "Monkey Business" in Los Angeles and was 7 strokes up on me.

"Lloyd Bacon, the movie producer, saw me in that show and signed me to do a movie with Louise Fazenda called 'Fingerprints.' It was a silent picture," Bill added.

"A SILENT?" I cried, because I'd just sliced one into a five-foot ditch.

"Sure. This was 1927, but later that year I appeared in the first all-talkie — 'The Jazz Singer,' with Al Jolson. I played his manager. Boy! These hills are getting me. I don't know if I'll be able to finish," he said, sinking his putt on No. 16 for a par and not even breathing hard.

"I notice you don't smoke," I said, suspiciously.

"Naw, I gave 'em up two years ago. Three packs a day for 60 years was enough. Cigarettes finally got an uncle of mine."

"How old was he?" I inquired, like any good straight man.

BACK at the clubhouse Bill consumed a couple of belts of sarsaparilla and a big lunch and said, "Hey, this was a lot of fun being with somebody like you."

"How do you mean?"

"I mean somebody besides these old vaudeville guys who don't want to talk about anything but the past. I won't even join their damned club. Who wants to hear about the past?

When I got home I looked up Bill Demarest in one of my old vaudeville books, and, sure enough, he was born Feb. 27, 1892. He won't be 75 for six more weeks, the lying bum.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

74-Year-Old Liar

When a man will lie about his age he'll lie about anything — including his golf score. Bill Demarest, for example, claims to be 75 and says it's only the magic of the makeup man on "My Three Sons" which makes his Uncle Charley O'Casey character look around 60.

Hal Humphrey

But I know he's lying because we played 18 holes of golf, and no 75-year-old man can beat me by 12 strokes the way this phony did. By the time we reached the third green he pretended he was tired.

-:-

"I USUALLY ride a cart," he whimpered, but the way he was chasing up and down the hills at Bel Air Country Club reminded me of those scenes in "Treasure of Sierra Madre" where Walter Huston wore out tough Humphrey Bogart and young Tim Holt.

To keep up this sham about his age, Bill kept dropping bits of his memoirs into the conversation. After blasting his tee shot over 200 yards down the middle of the No. 4 fairway he said, "By golly, this country around here reminds me of Ridgewood, N.J. My brothers and I played the Ridgewood Opera House in 1899, sang songs and played the cello, I did."

"YEAH? Well let's hear a few bars of the hit song of 1899," I countered.

"Okay. How about 'Dear Sing Sing'? I can remember every line — 'Dear Sing Sing, they don't charge you any admission and they give you a bath right away. . . .'"

"Hold it, I believe you!" I shouted, then missed a two-foot putt. "How did you and your brothers get out of Ridgewood alive?"

"It wasn't easy. They sent a posse after us, but we changed our names to the Demarestio Brothers and billed ourselves as 'European Entertainers.' Then our agent, Lee Muckenfus, got us booked in Salt Lake City," said Bill, as he smacked another drive right into the dogleg on No. 5.

"You changed songs, I hope."

"WE HAD 50 of 'em. One of our big numbers was 'It Takes the Irish To Beat the Dutch.' We sang that one at the old Bijou in Honolulu. That was in 1910, I remember, because it was the year of the Jeffries-Johnson fight in Reno, and I hated to miss it." Bill rattled on, laying his chip shot within a foot of the cup at No. 5.

By the time we teed off on the back nine, Bill had left his brothers and joined the late Ole Olsen and Chick Johnson with a show called "Monkey Business" in Los Angeles and was 7 strokes up on me.

"Lloyd Bacon, the movie producer, saw me in that show and signed me to do a movie with Louise Fazenda called 'Fingerprints.' It was a silent picture," Bill added.

"A SILENT?" I cried, because I'd just sliced one into a five-foot ditch.

"Sure. This was 1927, but later that year I appeared in the first all-talkie — 'The Jazz Singer,' with Al Jolson. I played his manager. Boy! These hills are getting me. I don't know if I'll be able to finish," he said, sinking his putt on No. 16 for a par and not even breathing hard.

"I notice you don't smoke," I said, suspiciously.

"Naw, I gave 'em up two years ago. Three packs a day for 60 years was enough. Cigarettes finally got an uncle of mine."

"How old was he?" I inquired, like any good straight man.

BACK at the clubhouse Bill consumed a couple of belts of sarsaparilla and a big lunch and said, "Hey, this was a lot of fun being with somebody like you."

"How do you mean?"

"I mean somebody besides these old vaudeville guys who don't want to talk about anything but the past. I won't even join their damned club. Who wants to hear about the past?

When I got home I looked up Bill Demarest in one of my old vaudeville books, and, sure enough, he was born Feb. 27, 1892. He won't be 75 for six more weeks, the lying bum.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Are you tired of trying to keep a plastic shower curtain clean and fresh? If so, try this:

Do away with the plastic curtain and make yourself one out of terry cloth instead!

I made one for our bathroom four years ago and it still looks fresh and soft. You will need two widths of terry cloth material and as long as from the shower rod to whatever depth you want it to fit in the tub. Add six inches to the length for the hems. Join the two pieces together in a flat-fell or French seam and hem the top. I used a two-inch hem on top.

Use the button-hole attachment on your sewing machine and make enough button holes (space evenly apart) for the number of shower rings you have on your rod.

Hem the bottom to the desired length, and on each side make a small hem.

MY CURTAIN is pink with a design and is very attractive. When it gets wet from the shower I simply spread it out for a while and it dries just like a bath towel!

It's simple to remove the terry cloth curtain from the shower and throw it in the washer. I hang it up while still damp and let it dry right on that same old rod.

I also bought enough matching material to make a ruffle for the top of my window. This is very effective and it takes half the effort to keep the bathroom looking forever fresh.

MRS. H. B. HALLSON.

DEAR MRS. HALLSON: I take my hat off to you. You are an angel to think of making a shower curtain out of terry cloth!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The only thing I have ever found that my children will eat any morning is orange toast.

This is just plain toast, buttered and sprinkled lightly or heavily with sugar, and an orange squeezed over it!

FRAN RYAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I have some new draperies that are unlined. The label on them said that they were guaranteed not to shrink over 2 per cent when washed. Would you tell me what this means?

How much can I expect them to shrink?

H. H.

DEAR H. H.: If it says they are "guaranteed not to shrink more than 2 per cent" (and this is residue shrinkage), you can look forward to them shrinking three-quarters of one inch for each yard of material.

Example: If your draperies are 2½ yards long you can figure that they will shrink approximately 2 inches.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For a year, I have been looking for a certain shade of turquoise necklace to match my shoes and belt that I coated with shoe coloring.

This weekend I got the idea to try the shoe coloring on a necklace that I seldom wear.

I coated it with the shoe coloring and it is beautiful. I then tried my luck on earrings and hit the jackpot again.

You should hear the compliments I get on my matched set.

FRANCES E. BRADY.

DEAR HELOISE: Does anyone know how to get rid of the "mothy" smell in closets, drawers and so forth caused by moth balls or crystals. I've tried everything and am at my wit's end.

-:-

I. T. H.

Anyone know? If so, drop your answer to Heloise in care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed to appear. We get this complaint many times, and will appreciate any answer you might have that has worked for you personally.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If I have cake frosting left over after I have covered a cake, I put it in a plastic box in my freezer. (Butter frosting freezes nicely.)

When I bake cup cakes, I always use this leftover icing. I let the icing thaw, beat it again with a spoon and tint with cake coloring.

HELEN.

400 Get 'Sneak Preview'

Portrait Scorned By LBJ On Display In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The presidential portrait that drew the scorn of Lyndon B. Johnson went on public display for the first time here today although about 400 persons had a sneak preview Thursday night.

Members and guests of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts viewed the work by artist Peter Hurd and no one found it nearly so objectionable as the President. He called it "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

Generally, the reaction was that it's not all that bad, and if it is, it is because the 62-year-old Hurd had only two sittings of the President and had to work from photographs.

"It's a little photographic, but he didn't have a chance," commented Mrs. George White, widow of a former Ohio governor, adding that Hurd "can paint beautifully."

Noted author John Dos Passos was among out-of-state guests who came from as far away as New York and Texas. He said "I can't imagine anyone losing any sleep over it. But I do think the one he did for Time magazine's cover showed more character."

The formally attired gallery members and their guests crowded the room where the LBJ portrait was displayed although about 200 other Hurd works were being exhibited in other rooms.

Hurd remained near the portrait but refused to be photographed with it. "I'd like to see all this publicity come to an end so all can be forgotten," the artist said.

Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft of the Ohio Supreme Court was among other notables attending the showing and a dinner. "I didn't know the President was that good-looking," Judge Taft said.

F. R. Wetsel of Columbus, a gallery member, said "it basically is a good portrait, but a little funny around the eyes."

Miss Tina Velantzas of Columbus called the portrait "fine" but said "there's something about the background, although well done, which takes away from it."

"It makes him look very handsome. I love the colors," said Miss Anne Powell of Columbus.

Hurd was quoted Thursday night as saying he has had "damn near 20 offers" for the portrait, the most recent a bid of $16,000 from St. Louis businessman William Ernst. The artist had asked $12,000 plus expenses.

A $12,000 offer last night came from Nashville, Tenn. attorney and Democratic State Rep. Charles Galbreath. "I may be wrong but I think this is a terrific chance for someone to make a bunch of money."

At the showing here, Hurd was further quoted as saying he "doesn't want to profiteer" though, and still plans to sell it to the Smithsonian Institution.

"SEEING" BY THE BLIND

Q. I have a blind friend who claims that she can "see" a person's face. Is there a scientific explanation for this?

A. Various investigators in this unique ability of the blind often referred to as "facial perception." The phenomenon seems in some way related to sound perception, apparently resembling a cat's environmental perception, so built-in sonar. Beyond this basic sense is as the other explanation at this time.

MEDICAL "PALMISTRY"

Q. Is it true that palm prints can be used in the diagnosis of certain diseases?

A. Yes, but the science of palmar dermatoglyphics contrary to what might be inferred, has no relation to the age-old practice of palmistry (fortune telling). One disorder associated with characteristic lines and creases of the palm is Down's syndrome or "mongolism." The palm prints of patients with congenital heart disease may also deviate from the normal pattern. Abnormal palm-print patterns are found in various other disease conditions. Medical dermatoglyphics will no doubt have wider application as more is learned about this interesting subject.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Are you tired of trying to keep a plastic shower curtain clean and fresh? If so, try this:

Do away with the plastic curtain and make yourself one out of terry cloth instead!

I made one for our bathroom four years ago and it still looks fresh and soft. You will need two widths of terry cloth material and as long as from the shower rod to whatever depth you want it to fit in the tub. Add six inches to the length for the hems. Join the two pieces together in a flat-fell or French seam and hem the top. I used a two-inch hem on top.

Use the button-hole attachment on your sewing machine and make enough button holes (space evenly apart) for the number of shower rings you have on your rod.

Hem the bottom to the desired length, and on each side make a small hem.

MY CURTAIN is pink with a design and is very attractive. When it gets wet from the shower I simply spread it out for a while and it dries just like a bath towel!

It's simple to remove the terry cloth curtain from the shower and throw it in the washer. I hang it up while still damp and let it dry right on that same old rod.

I also bought enough matching material to make a ruffle for the top of my window. This is very effective and it takes half the effort to keep the bathroom looking forever fresh.

MRS. H. B. HALLSON.

DEAR MRS. HALLSON: I take my hat off to you. You are an angel to think of making a shower curtain out of terry cloth!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The only thing I have ever found that my children will eat any morning is orange toast.

This is just plain toast, buttered and sprinkled lightly or heavily with sugar, and an orange squeezed over it!

FRAN RYAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I have some new draperies that are unlined. The label on them said that they were guaranteed not to shrink over 2 per cent when washed. Would you tell me what this means?

How much can I expect them to shrink?

H. H.

DEAR H. H.: If it says they are "guaranteed not to shrink more than 2 per cent" (and this is residue shrinkage), you can look forward to them shrinking three-quarters of one inch for each yard of material.

Example: If your draperies are 2½ yards long you can figure that they will shrink approximately 2 inches.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For a year, I have been looking for a certain shade of turquoise necklace to match my shoes and belt that I coated with shoe coloring.

This weekend I got the idea to try the shoe coloring on a necklace that I seldom wear.

I coated it with the shoe coloring and it is beautiful. I then tried my luck on earrings and hit the jackpot again.

You should hear the compliments I get on my matched set.

FRANCES E. BRADY.

DEAR HELOISE: Does anyone know how to get rid of the "mothy" smell in closets, drawers and so forth caused by moth balls or crystals. I've tried everything and am at my wit's end.

-:-

I. T. H.

Anyone know? If so, drop your answer to Heloise in care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed to appear. We get this complaint many times, and will appreciate any answer you might have that has worked for you personally.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If I have cake frosting left over after I have covered a cake, I put it in a plastic box in my freezer. (Butter frosting freezes nicely.)

When I bake cup cakes, I always use this leftover icing. I let the icing thaw, beat it again with a spoon and tint with cake coloring.

HELEN.

400 Get 'Sneak Preview'

Portrait Scorned By LBJ On Display In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The presidential portrait that drew the scorn of Lyndon B. Johnson went on public display for the first time here today although about 400 persons had a sneak preview Thursday night.

Members and guests of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts viewed the work by artist Peter Hurd and no one found it nearly so objectionable as the President. He called it "the ugliest thing I ever saw."

Generally, the reaction was that it's not all that bad, and if it is, it is because the 62-year-old Hurd had only two sittings of the President and had to work from photographs.

"It's a little photographic, but he didn't have a chance," commented Mrs. George White, widow of a former Ohio governor, adding that Hurd "can paint beautifully."

Noted author John Dos Passos was among out-of-state guests who came from as far away as New York and Texas. He said "I can't imagine anyone losing any sleep over it. But I do think the one he did for Time magazine's cover showed more character."

The formally attired gallery members and their guests crowded the room where the LBJ portrait was displayed although about 200 other Hurd works were being exhibited in other rooms.

Hurd remained near the portrait but refused to be photographed with it. "I'd like to see all this publicity come to an end so all can be forgotten," the artist said.

Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft of the Ohio Supreme Court was among other notables attending the showing and a dinner. "I didn't know the President was that good-looking," Judge Taft said.

F. R. Wetsel of Columbus, a gallery member, said "it basically is a good portrait, but a little funny around the eyes."

Miss Tina Velantzas of Columbus called the portrait "fine" but said "there's something about the background, although well done, which takes away from it."

"It makes him look very handsome. I love the colors," said Miss Anne Powell of Columbus.

Hurd was quoted Thursday night as saying he has had "damn near 20 offers" for the portrait, the most recent a bid of $16,000 from St. Louis businessman William Ernst. The artist had asked $12,000 plus expenses.

A $12,000 offer last night came from Nashville, Tenn. attorney and Democratic State Rep. Charles Galbreath. "I may be wrong but I think this is a terrific chance for someone to make a bunch of money."

At the showing here, Hurd was further quoted as saying he "doesn't want to profiteer" though, and still plans to sell it to the Smithsonian Institution.

Medical Mirror

"SEEING" BY THE BLIND

Q. I have a blind friend who claims that she can "see" a person near. Is there a scientific explanation for this?

A. Yes, and the most interesting is the unique ability of the blind often referred to as "facial perception". The phenomenon seems in some way related to sound perception, apparently resembling a sixth environmental perception to sullen ones. Beyond this there seems as of no other explanation at this time.

MEDICAL "PALMISTRY"

Q. Is it true that palm prints can be used in the diagnosis of certain diseases?

A. Yes, but the science of palmar dermatoglyphics contrary to what might be inferred, has no relation to the age-old practice of palmistry (fortune telling). One disorder associated with characteristic lines and creases of the palm is Down's syndrome or "mongolism." The palm prints of patients with congenital heart disease may also deviate from the normal pattern. Abnormal palm-print patterns are found in various other disease conditions. Medical dermatoglyphics will no doubt have wider application as more is learned about this interesting subject.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our two older children, 12 and 14, never gave us any trouble. They were responsive to discipline, good in their studies and my husband and I feel that they will be useful human beings and good citizens.

Our younger son is completely different and we are worried sick about him. He is a hell-raiser like you wouldn't believe. Freddie is 7 years old and he can outrun, outsmart and outmaneuver both his brother and sister.

This child is fast as lightning and he never seems to get tired. He hasn't taken a nap since he was 3 years old. Even when he stays up until 11 p.m. he is up at 6 in the morning tearing the house apart.

I can't keep track of Freddie, much less discipline him. His teachers have the same problem. He spills things, cuts things, breaks things, teases the other children, finishes the assignment in half the time (of course it's poorly done) and then he looks for mischief to get into.

Please tell me what to do. I'm on daily doses of tranquilizers.—END OF M ROPE.

Dear Rope: Have you taken Freddie to a physician lately?

If you have not done so, I strongly recommend it.

Medical science has made tremendous progress in the field of child behavior. Thirty years ago, overly active children were considered "spoiled" or "mischievous." They ran wild, wore everyone to a frazzle and the doctor put the frantic mothers on medication.

I'm not attempting to make a medical diagnosis but from your description of the boy, there is a chance that he might be a hyperkinetic child. Please ask your physician to check him. Maybe the wrong person is getting the medication.

Dear Ann: Although I have been married a couple of times I'm still an ignorant male. Will you please tell me how is it possible for a man to know a woman until he has lived with her?

You are opposed to men and women living together without the benefit of clergy and have said so repeatedly. Maybe it's time you changed your mind, Ann. With so many phonies running around loose these days how can a man learn what a woman is REALLY like by merely enjoying her company socially? ALSO RAN.

Dear Ran: Many marriages fail because people choose to ignore glaring faults and severe character defects which are quite obvious during courtship. After a few months, when the glamor wears off and what's underneath begins to show through, the disillusioned one yells, "I've been robbed."

Then there are the fools who believe that marriage will transform a liar or a lush or a selfish, willful woman into something wondrous. They are the blindest of all.

People who keep an eye and an ear open during courtship can learn all they need to know—if they want to, that is.

TO TOLD YOU ALL: You sure did, lovey, and my advice is to do as your doctor suggested. And please, no more 62-page letters. If you must cry over spilled milk, kindly condense it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: "What did Jesus mean when he said: "If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple."

ANSWER: Certainly Christ did not mean that before one could become a Christian he must literally "hate" his father and mother. What he does mean is that before an individual can be a true disciple he must love Christ more than he does any earthly tie.

If the time ever comes when family interferes with one obeying Christ, he must cling to Christ and forsake all. Service to Christ must come first and everything else second. No person can be a loyal disciple and then allow some earthly relationship to keep him from obeying Christ completely.

Tragically, many have allowed blood ties to keep them from obeying the Savior who died for them. Many refuse to obey the gospel because it means going against parents. Others refuse to give their lives in full-time service because it means leaving parents. I'm sure that we would be shocked if we knew the exact number who allow earthly ties of one kind or another to keep them from complete submission to the will of God. In such cases, there is a definite lack of devotion and consecration to the Master.

CHRIST MUST COME FIRST!

Civil Defense Drill Set For Wednesday

LISBON — A state Civil Defense exercise will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, according to Alex Rutecki of Lisbon, Columbiana County CD director.

Dies In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Pfc. Roger D. Polley has died from other than hostile action in Vietnam, leaving a widow in Cleveland, Ohio, the Defense Department reports.

U.S. Workers Switch Jobs At Fast Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says American workers are switching jobs faster than ever.

A Labor Department report issued today attributed this trend to the growing number of workers under 25 and a bright employment picture which is encouraging more people to move to better paying jobs.

The report said a survey this month showed that the 71 million Americans now at work have been on their current job an average of 4.2 years, compared with 4.6 years three years ago.

The length of time spent on a job varies directly with age, the report said.

"Workers under age 35 averaged only about 1.5 years on their current job while those 35 years old and over averaged 8 years."

Men tended to stay on one job longer than women — 5.2 years and 2.8 years respectively, the report said.

Of the total 71 million U.S. workers, 38 million had started their present jobs after 1961, and more than half this group had taken their jobs just in the past year, it added.

Another 8.7 million had held the same job 15 to 25 years and 4.5 million acquired their current jobs more than 25 years ago.

Workers under 25 years of age increased from 14 per cent of the work force in 1963 to 17 per cent now, and the report said this was a prime cause of the shorter average length of time on the job.

"A second factor might be the economic recovery which would induce more workers to change jobs," it said.

"A worker whose earnings are relatively high and who takes pride and satisfaction in his job is more likely to remain on that job for a long time," the report said.

"The underpaid, dissatisfied worker who believes he can earn more elsewhere would probably want to change jobs," it said.

Driver's Identity Listed In Mishap On St. Clair Ave.

A 67-year-old Beechwood man has identified himself as the driver of a vehicle which collided with two parked autos in the 1000 block of St. Clair Ave. Monday night, police reported.

Best told police he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car. He said he thought the fender "just fell off the truck" because it had been loose. Therefore, he said, he did not realize immediately there had been a collision.

Best said he subsequently notified police and his employer, the Woodbine Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co. of 112-114 W. 4th St. The owners of the cars have been advised they will be paid for the damage, he told police.

Payment Of $24 Fine Brings Jail Release

LISBON — Darlene Parks, 18, of N. Market St. was released from the Village Jail at 2 a. m. today when her attorney paid police $24.50 she owed on a fine.

Mayor Dean Stockman found her guilty Tuesday on a charge of resisting a police officer and fined her $25 and costs — a total of $30.50.

Miss Parks, who had paid a fine of $10 and costs Dec. 20 for disorderly conduct, elected to "lay out" the fine at the rate of $3 per day. She was credited with $6 for two days.

3-Part Program Marks Dinner Meeting Of BPW

A three-part program was presented when the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club held a dinner meeting Wednesday at the Travelers Hotel.

It was arranged by the club's Federation Committee, headed by Mrs. Clark Bradfield.

Crossword puzzles, designed to stimulate members' acquaintance with the club roster, were filled in during dinner. Prepared by Miss Joan Witt, president, the puzzles contained the names of 46 of the 130 members.

Following dinner, Mrs. Bradfield introduced two high school students, Miss Candy Burcham and Miss Ruth Bradfield, both members of the ELHS Forum Club, who discussed "Should U.S. foreign aid be limited to non-military assistance?"

Miss Burcham, who presented the affirmative, contended that "military aid has not been able to hold back Communism in such countries as Italy, Pakistan, Korea, Vietnam and others" and summarized her position by asserting that "education is the key, not guns."

Miss Bradfield, taking the negative, reviewed the foreign aid program, calling it "an important part of our foreign policy through three administrations" and cited Greece, Turkey and Taiwan as "countries which have successfully overcome Communism with our help, both military and economic."

The third phase of the program was presented by Miss Margaret Kinsey, music teacher, and Robert Shankovich, ELHS choir director. Miss Kinsey sang "The Cradle Song of The Virgin" (Brahms) and a folk song, "I Once Loved A Boy." She was accompanied by Shankovich at the piano.

Dinner tables, decorated by Mrs. E. D. Mason, held some 40 lighted hurricane lamps of jewel-toned hobnail glass. The lamps were placed on draped runners of blue, green and red net. The speakers' table was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations in a cut-glass epergne.

Miss Witt presided during the business session which followed the program and called attention to upcoming BPW events, including a Feb. 4 bake sale by Nike Club members and a district BPW meeting April 2 at Atwood Lodge.

She also requested volunteers to serve on various committees at the BPW state convention May 19-21 at Toledo.

Mrs. Richard Springer, personal development chairman, announced that the "Speakers of the House" unit will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Ohio Valley Gas Co. conference room and said all BPW members are welcome.

Mrs. Vernon Walrath, acting chairman of the club's Membership Committee, reminded the group that next Wednesday is the deadline for submitting names of prospective members to the committee for action.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our two older children, 12 and 14, never gave us any trouble. They were responsive to discipline, good in their studies and my husband and I feel that they will be useful human beings and good citizens.

Our younger son is completely different and we are worried sick about him. He is a hell-raiser like you wouldn't believe. Freddie is 7 years old and he can outrun, outsmart and outmaneuver both his brother and sister.

This child is fast as lightning and he never seems to get tired. He hasn't taken a nap since he was 3 years old. Even when he stays up until 11 p.m. he is up at 6 in the morning tearing the house apart.

I can't keep track of Freddie, much less discipline him. His teachers have the same problem. He spills things, cuts things, breaks things, teases the other children, finishes the assignment in half the time (of course it's poorly done) and then he looks for mischief to get into.

Please tell me what to do. I'm on daily doses of tranquilizers.—END OF M ROPE.

Dear Rope: Have you taken Freddie to a physician lately?

If you have not done so, I strongly recommend it.

Medical science has made tremendous progress in the field of child behavior. Thirty years ago, overly active children were considered "spoiled" or "mischievous." They ran wild, wore everyone to a frazzle and the doctor put the frantic mothers on medication.

I'm not attempting to make a medical diagnosis but from your description of the boy, there is a chance that he might be a hyperkinetic child. Please ask your physician to check him. Maybe the wrong person is getting the medication.

Dear Ann: Although I have been married a couple of times I'm still an ignorant male. Will you please tell me how is it possible for a man to know a woman until he has lived with her?

You are opposed to men and women living together without the benefit of clergy and have said so repeatedly. Maybe it's time you changed your mind, Ann. With so many phonies running around loose these days how can a man learn what a woman is REALLY like by merely enjoying her company socially? ALSO RAN.

Dear Ran: Many marriages fail because people choose to ignore glaring faults and severe character defects which are quite obvious during courtship. After a few months, when the glamor wears off and what's underneath begins to show through, the disillusioned one yells, "I've been robbed."

Then there are the fools who believe that marriage will transform a liar or a lush or a selfish, willful woman into something wondrous. They are the blindest of all.

People who keep an eye and an ear open during courtship can learn all they need to know—if they want to, that is.

TO TOLD YOU ALL: You sure did, lovey, and my advice is to do as your doctor suggested. And please, no more 62-page letters. If you must cry over spilled milk, kindly condense it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: "What did Jesus mean when he said: "If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple."

ANSWER: Certainly Christ did not mean that before one could become a Christian he must literally "hate" his father and mother. What he does mean is that before an individual can be a true disciple he must love Christ more than he does any earthly tie.

If the time ever comes when family interferes with one obeying Christ, he must cling to Christ and forsake all. Service to Christ must come first and everything else second. No person can be a loyal disciple and then allow some earthly relationship to keep him from obeying Christ completely.

Tragically, many have allowed blood ties to keep them from obeying the Savior who died for them. Many refuse to obey the gospel because it means going against parents. Others refuse to give their lives in full-time service because it means leaving parents. I'm sure that we would be shocked if we knew the exact number who allow earthly ties of one kind or another to keep them from complete submission to the will of God. In such cases, there is a definite lack of devotion and consecration to the Master.

CHRIST MUST COME FIRST!

U.S. Workers Switch Jobs At Fast Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says American workers are switching jobs faster than ever.

A Labor Department report issued today attributed this trend to the growing number of workers under 25 and a bright employment picture which is encouraging more people to move to better paying jobs.

The report said a survey this month showed that the 71 million Americans now at work have been on their current job an average of 4.2 years, compared with 4.6 years three years ago.

The length of time spent on a job varies directly with age, the report said.

"Workers under age 35 averaged only about 1.5 years on their current job while those 35 years old and over averaged 8 years."

Men tended to stay on one job longer than women — 5.2 years and 2.8 years respectively, the report said.

Of the total 71 million U.S. workers, 38 million had started their present jobs after 1961, and more than half this group had taken their jobs just in the past year, it added.

Another 8.7 million had held the same job 15 to 25 years and 4.5 million acquired their current jobs more than 25 years ago.

Workers under 25 years of age increased from 14 per cent of the work force in 1963 to 17 per cent now, and the report said this was a prime cause of the shorter average length of time on the job.

"A second factor might be the economic recovery which would induce more workers to change jobs," it said.

"A worker whose earnings are relatively high and who takes pride and satisfaction in his job is more likely to remain on that job for a long time," the report said.

"The underpaid, dissatisfied worker who believes he can earn more elsewhere would probably want to change jobs," it said.

Driver's Identity Listed In Mishap On St. Clair Ave.

A 67-year-old Beechwood man has identified himself as the driver of a vehicle which collided with two parked autos in the 1000 block of St. Clair Ave. Monday night, police reported.

Best told police he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car. He said he thought the fender "just fell off the truck" because it had been loose. Therefore, he said, he did not realize immediately there had been a collision.

Best said he subsequently notified police and his employer, the Woodbine Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co. of 112-114 W. 4th St. The owners of the cars have been advised they will be paid for the damage, he told police.

Payment Of $24 Fine Brings Jail Release

LISBON — Darlene Parks, 18, of N. Market St. was released from the Village Jail at 2 a. m. today when her attorney paid police $24.50 she owed on a fine.

Mayor Dean Stockman found her guilty Tuesday on a charge of resisting a police officer and fined her $25 and costs — a total of $30.50.

Miss Parks, who had paid a fine of $10 and costs Dec. 20 for disorderly conduct, elected to "lay out" the fine at the rate of $3 per day. She was credited with $6 for two days.

3-Part Program Marks Dinner Meeting Of BPW

A three-part program was presented when the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club held a dinner meeting Wednesday at the Travelers Hotel.

It was arranged by the club's Federation Committee, headed by Mrs. Clark Bradfield.

Crossword puzzles, designed to stimulate members' acquaintance with the club roster, were filled in during dinner. Prepared by Miss Joan Witt, president, the puzzles contained the names of 46 of the 130 members.

Following dinner, Mrs. Bradfield introduced two high school students, Miss Candy Burcham and Miss Ruth Bradfield, both members of the ELHS Forum Club, who discussed "Should U.S. foreign aid be limited to non-military assistance?"

Miss Burcham, who presented the affirmative, contended that "military aid has not been able to hold back Communism in such countries as Italy, Pakistan, Korea, Vietnam and others" and summarized her position by asserting that "education is the key, not guns."

Miss Bradfield, taking the negative, reviewed the foreign aid program, calling it "an important part of our foreign policy through three administrations" and cited Greece, Turkey and Taiwan as "countries which have successfully overcome Communism with our help, both military and economic."

The third phase of the program was presented by Miss Margaret Kinsey, music teacher, and Robert Shankovich, ELHS choir director. Miss Kinsey sang "The Cradle Song of The Virgin" (Brahms) and a folk song, "I Once Loved A Boy." She was accompanied by Shankovich at the piano.

Dinner tables, decorated by Mrs. E. D. Mason, held some 40 lighted hurricane lamps of jewel-toned hobnail glass. The lamps were placed on draped runners of blue, green and red net. The speakers' table was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations in a cut-glass epergne.

Miss Witt presided during the business session which followed the program and called attention to upcoming BPW events, including a Feb. 4 bake sale by Nike Club members and a district BPW meeting April 2 at Atwood Lodge.

She also requested volunteers to serve on various committees at the BPW state convention May 19-21 at Toledo.

Mrs. Richard Springer, personal development chairman, announced that the "Speakers of the House" unit will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Ohio Valley Gas Co. conference room and said all BPW members are welcome.

Mrs. Vernon Walrath, acting chairman of the club's Membership Committee, reminded the group that next Wednesday is the deadline for submitting names of prospective members to the committee for action.

New League For Youngsters . . .

A new basketball league for youngsters has been formed to replace the Little Potters League which did not operate this year.

Don Smith, president of the Nonpareil Club, said the club will sponsor the new league, to be known as the Blue and White League.

The loop will be comprised of four teams of seventh and eighth graders combined.

The schedule calls for games twice a week, on Wednesdays and Thursdays, at the Westgate gym, with the club paying the rental fee.

The league will continue for 10 weeks, with an all-star team to be selected at the conclusion of the season. The All-Stars then would be entered in tournament play around the Pittsburgh area, Smith added.

The regular season schedule will begin Jan. 25. Players will register at the two junior high schools.

ELHS Declines Invitation . . .

EAST LIVERPOOL High School was invited to participate in the 1967 Holiday Basketball Tournament at Midland but school officials here declined the invitation, according to Jim (Sonny) Migliore, tournament chairman.

Midland is scheduled to play at East Liverpool next season and by accepting the tournament invitation the Potters would have lost a home game and had to play at Midland. The East Liverpool and Midland game always has been a good draw for both schools.

Migliore said each school participating in the tournament receives $500 and the cheerleaders and two queen candidates are eligible to compete in the added contest. The players are lodged overnight at the Willows Motel in Industry and given a banquet on the final night.

Uniontown and New Castle alraedy have accepted invitations for next year and Migliore said he is looking for one other team to round out the field.

Among the teams he is attempting to sign is Columbus East, which appeared at East Liverpool last Friday. East was ranked No. 1 in the state this week and has a host of outstanding underclassmen and would be a very classy attraction for the tournament.

Vanlier Has Big Night . . .

NORM VANLIER, the ex-Midland star, had another big night in Philadelphia when he hit his season high of 30 points, but it wasn't enough as St. Francis dropped an 84-74 decision to LaSalle.

In two appearances at the Palestra, Vanlier has scored 57 points. He had 27 in a game with St. Joseph's last month. In addition to scoring well, "Stormin' Norman" is far ahead in assists.

Ex-Potter Joe Massey poured in 20 points against Grove City Wednesday night, but had little help in the scoring department as his Theil team lost 71-55.

Local Teams Face 11-Game Card Tonight

A 20-game card faces area teams tonight and Saturday with Steubenville Big Red's appearance at East Liverpool and Beaver Local's visit to Toronto heading the list.

Eleven contests are scheduled tonight with East Liverpool seeking its first Big 8 Conference victory in a battle with Big Red. Steubenville holds a 2-4 record on the season while the Potters are batting .500 at 4-4.

Saturday night the Potters will play host to Youngstown South.

Big Red Here; Beavers At Toronto

A LEAGUE game of importance tonight finds an improved Beaver Local team at Toronto to face the once-beaten Red Knights in a Buckeye Border Conference contest.

Toronto is unbeaten in Conference play while Beaver Local has only lost one game and that was to the Red Knights last month at Beaver Local. Coach Lloyd Stockdale's team, hit by injury earlier in the season, is well again and has won its last three contests.

STOPPING 6-6 Dick Symons plus the good outside shooting of Toronto are the main problems for the Beavers.

In other games tonight, two backyard rivals hook up when Oak Glen, carrying an eight-game losing streak, travels to Wellsville. The Tigers are fresh from their second victory of the season over Springfield Local. Coach Jack McDevitt's team has a 2-6 mark entering tonight's game.

MIDLAND is at home tonight seeking its sixth straight Section 6 victory and isn't expected to have any problem over Seneca Valley. In five Section games so far Seneca has not recorded a victory while Midland and Monaca are sharing the lead with 5-0 marks.

Another game in Pennsylvania finds rivals meeting when Western Beaver visits South Side.

THE TRI-COUNTY League schedule is full tonight with undefeated Minerva going to Columbiana while East Palestine, winner of its last five games goes to Louisville. Sebring is at Leetonia tonight and Lisbon goes to Poland.

Green Bay Should Win With Defense Plus Bart Starr

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Green Bay Packers should beat back the challenge of the Kansas City Chiefs in Sunday's Super Bowl because they have the quarterback in Bart Starr to pick apart the Chiefs' secondary and the defense to throttle the fast-striking attack of the American Football League champions.

In this first direct confrontation of the old established National Football League and the AFL, the Packers are determined to prove their right to be known as the very best team in professional football.

Several Packers were playing pro ball before the AFL was born. Many of them turned down fabulous bids to sign with AFL teams because they wanted to face the challenge of playing with the league they considered best. Now they must win or face up to the fact that they may have made a mistake when they signed their first contract.

This is a good football Club, this Green Bay Packer team. It can hit through the air with Starr throwing to Carroll Dale, Boyd Dowler, Elijah Pitts, Jim Taylor or Marv Fleming. And it can strike along the ground with Taylor still capable of breaking tackles and running over people and Pitts slipping through a hole and vanishing in a burst of speed.

Most of all, it can stop the other fellow. Dallas shocked Coach Vince Lombardi and his staff by scoring 27 points on a team that grudgingly yielded only 163 points in 14 regular season games. It won't happen again.

Willie Davis, Ron Kostelnik, Henry Jordan and Lionel Aldridge are smaller but more mobile than the big front four of the Chiefs. The Packers' defensive line puts tremendous pressure on the passer and figures to get Lenny Dawnson who was dropped eight times by Buffalo in the AFL title game.

Nobody in football can match the Packers' linebackers of Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey who blitz only about five per cent of the time but normally let the line rush while they peel off to cover a pass and turn in a runner.

Herb Adderley and Bob Jeter, two fine corner backs, did an excellent job in holding Bob Hayes of Dallas to one reception. They will be primarily responsible for covering Otis Taylor, Kansas City's fine flanker, who flip flops from left to right depending on the formation. Willie Wood is a superb free safety and Tom Brown has come along fine at strong safety, a point the Chiefs may try to attack with tight end Fred Arbanas.

The Packers' offensive line of tackles Bob Skoronski and Forrest Gregg, guards Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer and center Bill Curry will be giving away weight to the Chiefs' front four but they have done a fine job protecting Starr who has been intercepted only three times all year.

The Chiefs may have the edge in kicking because Don Chandler, the Packers' field goal man and punter, has been in a slump. But Chandler usually rises to the occasion when the big money is on the line.

If Kansas City scores two quickies, this could be a whale of a ball game. If the Packers get out front early, forcing the Chiefs to put the ball in the air, Green Bay could romp.

All right, so Cleveland did come over from the All America Conference and beat the Phileadelphia Eagles in their first NFL game in 1950. Vince Lombardi wasn't around in those days.

MAURY WILLS, baseball's all-time championship base stealer, signs a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates for an undisclosed sum Thursday as General Manager Joe Brown (right) looks on. The signing took place in Spokane, Wash. (UPI Telephoto)

'Motivation' Key To Kansas City's Chance For Upset

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If the Kansas City Chiefs are to upset the Green Bay Packers in Sunday's Super Bowl game it will take one intangible—motivation—and their three main assets: Size, strength and speed.

The three S's probably are Kansas City's main weapons, but the motivation remains an immeasurable factor as the two teams continue to work out in closed-door sessions for the first clash of the National and American football league champions.

The oddsmakers are sticking solidly behind Green Bay, but in AFL circles they're figuring the Chiefs can pull off the upset on the following basis:

Motivation

Jerry Mays, the Chiefs' defensive captain, probably expressed it best when he said:

"There are two motivations in this game—No. 1 the Packers pride to prove their reputation is justified; No. 2 the underdog role. We're the underdogs—the poor kids from across the tracks coming across to play against the rick kids who've had everything their way.

"I have to feel the underdog motivation is greater."

Size and Strength

Physically the Chiefs are as big—if not bigger — than any other team in pro football, and considerably more so than the Packers.

Defensively, the Chiefs' front four is massive compared to Green Bay's, with 6-foot-4, 252-pound Jerry Mays and 6-6, 230-pound Chuck Hurston at the ends and 6-7, 287-pound Buck Buchanan and 6-3, 266-pound Andy Rice at the tackles.

Green Bay can't match that. As a matter of fact, counting offensive linemen, the defensive front four and the linebackers, the Chiefs are bigger at 10 of the 14 positions.

Speed

The names are Otis Taylor and Mike Garrett, and they're the threats Green Bay will have to stop. Taylor, a sophomore flanker, gained 1,297 yards on 58 catches this season while Garrett, a rookie running back, gained 801 yards for a league-leading 5.5 average.

The two are the core of the Chiefs' strike force and have the breakaway speed that the Packers' can't match offensively.

Westgaters Edged 51-49 By Big Reds

Westgate dropped a 51-49 decision in the last minute of play at Steubenville Big Red Thursday.

Trailing 50-49, Westgate had possession of the ball but called a time out when there were none remaining and Big Red converted a technical foul for the 51-49 margin and gained control of the ball.

Westgate, trailing 14-3 at the end of the first period, moved in front 25-21 at halftime and led 40-36 after three periods.

The loss was the third in nine starts for the Wildcats.

Westgate plays Tuesday at Weirton Madonna.

UCLA Faces 13th Jinx Plus Bears

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Friday the 13th jinx may topple the top-ranked UCLA Bruins from the unbeaten ranks in college basketball tonight.

The No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll and its sophomore super-star, Lew Alcindor, risk their spotless 10-0 record against the California Bears, 7-3 in Los Angeles.

The Bears, led by 5-foot-10 Russ Critchfield and 6-2 Charlie Perkins will overcome the Bruins and the 7-1 Alcindor but unexpected things have happened on previous Fridays, the 13th. Rene Herrerias, the California coach, is hoping for the best for his boys.

Once beaten Canisius, Boston College and Mississippi State took over the headlines Thursday night with all Top Ten teams in the AP poll idle.

Canisius made it seven in a row and 8-1 for the season by whipping Niagara 90-76 before 12,342 in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium. It was the first game between the arch rivals in 10 years.

Andy Anderson and John Morrison each scored 23 points for Canisius. Butch Erwin topped Niagara with the same total.

Boston College, led by Terry Driscoll's 18 points, routed Duquesne 93-66 at Newton, Mass. for its 10th victory in 11 starts. In contrast Mississippi State, now 11-1, almost was upset by little Delta State at Cleveland, Miss.

Led by Sammy Little's 26 points the Delta Statesmen led until the Maroon pulled out a 68-65 triumph in the last three minutes. A free throw by Dave Williams broke a 63-63 tie and put the Maroon ahead for good with 90 seconds left.

Colorado beat Iowa State 64-52, Tulsa downed North Texas 65-59, Clemson edged Furman 69-68, Tulane thumped Louisiana State 99-89, Northeastern nipped Rhode Island 65-63 and Fordham defeated Columbia 56-52 in other games.

Adcock Meets The Press Along With Other Indians

"Everything we do will have one thing in mind — winning," Gabe Paul, president and general manager of the Cleveland Indians, said Thursday night during a press party in Youngstown.

Also on hand were Joe Adcock, new Tribe manager, and First Base Coach Fat Mullin, a veteran of 25 years with the Detroit Tigers.

Adcock retired as a player only last October and will be one of nine managers presently serving in the major leagues who went directly from player to managerial status.

Adcock called himself an "undefeated, untied and untried manager" who in 20 years of baseball has thus far had to worry only about his playing performance. "Now," he commented, "I must consider 25 players, the coaching staff, the front office and everyone else." The big southerner, 39, told the gathering baseball is no fun "unless you can win."

Paul was questioned about the possibility of inter-league play. "The National League is against it," he explained, "because of a feeling of so-called superiority in the league.

"But since the Dodgers were beaten four in a row by Baltimore in the Series, things may be different," the general manager added.

Introduced also were Grayle Howlett, vice president in charge of sales, and Hank Peters, vice president in charge of the farm system.

Duke Sims, an Indian catcher, also met the guests as did several players from Cleveland's minor league affiliates.

Herb Score, television - radio voice of the Indians, also was present.

Also attending was William McKinley, a sales executive in the organization and a recently-retired major league umpire.

Adcock commented: "Someone quoted me as saying we're a contender. I doubt if my boss (Paul) would have much faith in me if I thought we were going to do anything else than end up in the first division."

New League For Youngsters . . .

A new basketball league for youngsters has been formed to replace the Little Potters League which did not operate this year.

Don Smith, president of the Nonpareil Club, said the club will sponsor the new league, to be known as the Blue and White League.

The loop will be comprised of four teams of seventh and eighth graders combined.

The schedule calls for games twice a week, on Wednesdays and Thursdays, at the Westgate gym, with the club paying the rental fee.

The league will continue for 10 weeks, with an all-star team to be selected at the conclusion of the season. The All-Stars then would be entered in tournament play around the Pittsburgh area, Smith added.

The regular season schedule will begin Jan. 25. Players will register at the two junior high schools.

ELHS Declines Invitation . . .

EAST LIVERPOOL High School was invited to participate in the 1967 Holiday Basketball Tournament at Midland but school officials here declined the invitation, according to Jim (Sonny) Migliore, tournament chairman.

Midland is scheduled to play at East Liverpool next season and by accepting the tournament invitation the Potters would have lost a home game and had to play at Midland. The East Liverpool and Midland game always has been a good draw for both schools.

Migliore said each school participating in the tournament receives $500 and the cheerleaders and two queen candidates are eligible to compete in the added contest. The players are lodged overnight at the Willows Motel in Industry and given a banquet on the final night.

Uniontown and New Castle alraedy have accepted invitations for next year and Migliore said he is looking for one other team to round out the field.

Among the teams he is attempting to sign is Columbus East, which appeared at East Liverpool last Friday. East was ranked No. 1 in the state this week and has a host of outstanding underclassmen and would be a very classy attraction for the tournament.

Vanlier Has Big Night . . .

NORM VANLIER, the ex-Midland star, had another big night in Philadelphia when he hit his season high of 30 points, but it wasn't enough as St. Francis dropped an 84-74 decision to LaSalle.

In two appearances at the Palestra, Vanlier has scored 57 points. He had 27 in a game with St. Joseph's last month. In addition to scoring well, "Stormin' Norman" is far ahead in assists.

Ex-Potter Joe Massey poured in 20 points against Grove City Wednesday night, but had little help in the scoring department as his Theil team lost 71-55.

Local Teams Face 11-Game Card Tonight

Big Red Here; Beavers At Toronto

A 20-game card faces area teams tonight and Saturday with Steubenville Big Red's appearance at East Liverpool and Beaver Local's visit to Toronto heading the list.

Eleven contests are scheduled tonight with East Liverpool seeking its first Big 8 Conference victory in a battle with Big Red. Steubenville holds a 2-4 record on the season while the Potters are batting .500 at 4-4.

Saturday night the Potters will play host to Youngstown South.

A LEAGUE game of importance tonight finds an improved Beaver Local team at Toronto to face the once-beaten Red Knights in a Buckeye Border Conference contest.

Toronto is unbeaten in Conference play while Beaver Local has only lost one game and that was to the Red Knights last month at Beaver Local. Coach Lloyd Stockdale's team, hit by injury earlier in the season, is well again and has won its last three contests.

STOPPING 6-6 Dick Symons plus the good outside shooting of Toronto are the main problems for the Beavers.

In other games tonight, two backyard rivals hook up when Oak Glen, carrying an eight-game losing streak, travels to Wellsville. The Tigers are fresh from their second victory of the season over Springfield Local. Coach Jack McDevitt's team has a 2-6 mark entering tonight's game.

MIDLAND is at home tonight seeking its sixth straight Section 6 victory and isn't expected to have any problem over Seneca Valley. In five Section games so far Seneca has not recorded a victory while Midland and Monaca are sharing the lead with 5-0 marks.

THE TRI-COUNTY League schedule is full tonight with undefeated Minerva going to Columbiana while East Palestine, winner of its last five games goes to Louisville. Sebring is at Leetonia tonight and Lisbon goes to Poland.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Green Bay Packers should beat back the challenge of the Kansas City Chiefs in Sunday's Super Bowl because they have the quarterback in Bart Starr to pick apart the Chiefs' secondary and the defense to throttle the fast-striking attack of the American Football League champions.

In this first direct confrontation of the old established National Football League and the AFL, the Packers are determined to prove their right to be known as the very best team in professional football.

Several Packers were playing pro ball before the AFL was born. Many of them turned down fabulous bids to sign with AFL teams because they wanted to face the challenge of playing with the league they considered best. Now they must win or face up to the fact that they may have made a mistake when they signed their first contract.

This is a good football Club, this Green Bay Packer team. It can hit through the air with Starr throwing to Carroll Dale, Boyd Dowler, Elijah Pitts, Jim Taylor or Marv Fleming. And it can strike along the ground with Taylor still capable of breaking tackles and running over people and Pitts slipping through a hole and vanishing in a burst of speed.

Most of all, it can stop the other fellow. Dallas shocked Coach Vince Lombardi and his staff by scoring 27 points on a team that grudgingly yielded only 163 points in 14 regular season games. It won't happen again.

Willie Davis, Ron Kostelnik, Henry Jordan and Lionel Aldridge are smaller but more mobile than the big front four of the Chiefs. The Packers' defensive line puts tremendous pressure on the passer and figures to get Lenny Dawnson who was dropped eight times by Buffalo in the AFL title game.

Nobody in football can match the Packers' linebackers of Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey who blitz only about five per cent of the time but normally let the line rush while they peel off to cover a pass and turn in a runner.

Herb Adderley and Bob Jeter, two fine corner backs, did an excellent job in holding Bob Hayes of Dallas to one reception. They will be primarily responsible for covering Otis Taylor, Kansas City's fine flanker, who flip flops from left to right depending on the formation. Willie Wood is a superb free safety and Tom Brown has come along fine at strong safety, a point the Chiefs may try to attack with tight end Fred Arbanas.

The Packers' offensive line of tackles Bob Skoronski and Forrest Gregg, guards Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer and center Bill Curry will be giving away weight to the Chiefs' front four but they have done a fine job protecting Starr who has been intercepted only three times all year.

The Chiefs may have the edge in kicking because Don Chandler, the Packers' field goal man and punter, has been in a slump. But Chandler usually rises to the occasion when the big money is on the line.

If Kansas City scores two quickies, this could be a whale of a ball game. If the Packers get out front early, forcing the Chiefs to put the ball in the air, Green Bay could romp.

Westgaters Edged 51-49 By Big Reds

Westgate dropped a 51-49 decision in the last minute of play at Steubenville Big Red Thursday.

Trailing 50-49, Westgate had possession of the ball but called a time out when there were none remaining and Big Red converted a technical foul for the 51-49 margin and gained control of the ball.

The loss was the third in nine starts for the Wildcats.

Westgate plays Tuesday at Weirton Madonna.

'Motivation' Key To Kansas City's Chance For Upset

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If the Kansas City Chiefs are to upset the Green Bay Packers in Sunday's Super Bowl game it will take one intangible—motivation—and their three main assets: Size, strength and speed.

The three S's probably are Kansas City's main weapons, but the motivation remains an immeasurable factor as the two teams continue to work out in closed-door sessions for the first clash of the National and American football league champions.

The oddsmakers are sticking solidly behind Green Bay, but in AFL circles they're figuring the Chiefs can pull off the upset on the following basis:

Motivation

Jerry Mays, the Chiefs' defensive captain, probably expressed it best when he said:

"There are two motivations in this game—No. 1 the Packers pride to prove their reputation is justified; No. 2 the underdog role. We're the underdogs—the poor kids from across the tracks coming across to play against the rick kids who've had everything their way.

"I have to feel the underdog motivation is greater."

Size and Strength

Defensively, the Chiefs' front four is massive compared to Green Bay's, with 6-foot-4, 252-pound Jerry Mays and 6-6, 230-pound Chuck Hurston at the ends and 6-7, 287-pound Buck Buchanan and 6-3, 266-pound Andy Rice at the tackles.

Green Bay can't match that. As a matter of fact, counting offensive linemen, the defensive front four and the linebackers, the Chiefs are bigger at 10 of the 14 positions.

Speed

The names are Otis Taylor and Mike Garrett, and they're the threats Green Bay will have to stop. Taylor, a sophomore flanker, gained 1,297 yards on 58 catches this season while Garrett, a rookie running back, gained 801 yards for a league-leading 5.5 average.

The two are the core of the Chiefs' strike force and have the breakaway speed that the Packers' can't match offensively.

UCLA Faces 13th Jinx Plus Bears

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Friday the 13th jinx may topple the top-ranked UCLA Bruins from the unbeaten ranks in college basketball tonight.

The No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll and its sophomore super-star, Lew Alcindor, risk their spotless 10-0 record against the California Bears, 7-3 in Los Angeles.

The Bears, led by 5-foot-10 Russ Critchfield and 6-2 Charlie Perkins will overcome the Bruins and the 7-1 Alcindor but unexpected things have happened on previous Fridays, the 13th. Rene Herrerias, the California coach, is hoping for the best for his boys.

Once beaten Canisius, Boston College and Mississippi State took over the headlines Thursday night with all Top Ten teams in the AP poll idle.

Canisius made it seven in a row and 8-1 for the season by whipping Niagara 90-76 before 12,342 in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium. It was the first game between the arch rivals in 10 years.

Andy Anderson and John Morrison each scored 23 points for Canisius. Butch Erwin topped Niagara with the same total.

Boston College, led by Terry Driscoll's 18 points, routed Duquesne 93-66 at Newton, Mass. for its 10th victory in 11 starts. In contrast Mississippi State, now 11-1, almost was upset by little Delta State at Cleveland, Miss.

Led by Sammy Little's 26 points the Delta Statesmen led until the Maroon pulled out a 68-65 triumph in the last three minutes. A free throw by Dave Williams broke a 63-63 tie and put the Maroon ahead for good with 90 seconds left.

Colorado beat Iowa State 64-52, Tulsa downed North Texas 65-59, Clemson edged Furman 69-68, Tulane thumped Louisiana State 99-89, Northeastern nipped Rhode Island 65-63 and Fordham defeated Columbia 56-52 in other games.

Wills Signs With Smile For Undisclosed Amount

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wills, the shortstop who fell into disfavor with the Los Angeles Dodgers after the 1966 season and was traded to Pittsburgh, signed with the Pirates Thursday for an undisclosed amount. He received about $80,000 last season.

"He signed with a smile on his face," General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates said. "I didn't have to twist his arm. So obviously he's satisfied, or he wouldn't have signed.

If the occasion struck a happy note for the Pirates and the 34-year-old shortstop, who is tabbed for third base duty with Pittsburgh, it brought a chorus of the blues from at least one other National League manager.

Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs said the acquisition of Wills, irked with the Dodgers, makes the Pirates the team to beat.

Wills will "give 200 per cent instead of just 100 per cent" for the Pirates, "a good club to begin with," Durocher said.

Wills, who signed in his home-town of Spokane, Wash., fell into disfavor with Dodgers' owner Walter O'Malley when he left the team during a barnstorming tour of Japan, asserting he needed to return to the United States for treatment of an injured knee.

Brown, who gave up infielder-outfielder Bob Bailey and infielder Gene Michael to the Dodgers, said Wills' knee trouble is cleared up.

St. Louis signed veteran center fielder Curt Flood and rookie right-handed pitcher Joe DiFabio. Flood needs to play only the first two games of next season without an error to set a new National League record of 187 straight errorless games for an outfielder. He hit .267 in 1966 after three consecutive .300-plus years.

San Francisco also signed a key pitcher, Bob Bolin, a right-hander who was 11-10 last season with four of his losses being shutouts, came to terms for an estimated $30,000.

Philadelphia signed three players, and Atlanta announced it had added four to its fold.

Infielder Phil Linz, right-handed pitcher Bob Buhl, 6-8 in 1966 with the Cubs and Philadelphia, and right-hander Dick Hall, 6-2 in relief with the world champion Baltimore Orioles, were the Phillies signed.

Agreeing to terms with Atlanta were pitcher Denny Lemaster, Dick Kelly and Pat Jarvis and infielder Woody Woodward. The southpaw Lemaster was 11-8 last year.

Heading the flock of Red Sox signees were first baseman George Scott, third baseman Joe Foy and second baseman George Smith. The other 10 were pitchers, including Dennis Bennett, Jim Longborg, Lee Stange and Jose Santiago.

Besides the Red Sox, the only other American League club reporting a signing was Kansas City. The Athletics signed outfielder Alan Lewis, who stole a Florida State League record of 116 bases last season at Leesburg, Va.

In another development, the New York Yankees said highly touted rookie outfielder Bill Robinson would undergo surgery next week for removal of a small bone chip from his right elbow. Robinson was obtained from Atlanta for veteran third baseman Clete Boyer.

Ohl's 41 Ends Bullet Losing Streak At 13

By The Associated Press

Nobody seems to want to buy the St. Louis Hawks, which perhaps is just as well because Don Ohl seems to own them already.

Just as it was being learned Thursday that the New Orleans group that had offered $3.8 million for the Hawks had lowered its bid, Baltimore, led by Ohl's 41 points, broke a 13-game National Basketball Association losing streak with a 137-116 triumph.

A spokesman for the Hawks said the new bid by the New Orleans group was not satisfactory and that owner Ben Kerner, who wants to sell because of illness, was hoping for other offers.

Ohl broke open what had been a tight game with 18 last-quarter points. The game was tied at 105 with 8:47 left before a free throw by Gus Johnson, returning to action after missing eight games because of a knee injury, put the Bullets ahead for good.

Rick Barry paced the Warriors with 41 points, including San Francisco's last eight points, six on free throws. Teammate Nate Thurmond contributed 30 points and 30 rebounds as the Western Division leaders stretched their first-place margin to 8½ games.

Fellow Coaches Cite Tom Cahill

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — At the age 47 when the world has passed many men by, Tom Cahill of Army unexpectedly found himself on top of that world today.

Cahill, quiet and with few extrovert qualities, was picked by his colleagues in the American Football Coaches Association as University Coach of the Year Thursday night.

He achieved the honor after being a head coach less than a year and at a time in life when few assistant coaches feel that such a coaching opportunity will ever come their way.

In a notable contrast, the coaches named Dan Jessee, 65, who retired after 35 years at Trinity, in Hartford, Conn., as College Coach of 1966.

To complete a sweep of honors for Eastern coaches, Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse was elected president of the association Thursday.

Cahill was little known outside his area when shortly before the start of spring practice last year Coach Paul Dietzel decided the University of South Carolina was more attractive than the U.S. Military Academy.

Cahill moved his family into the big house provided the head coach at West Point, but they did not immediately unpack everything.

"At 47, well, that's a little late to suddenly find yourself in a head coaching job," Cahill said. "I was fortunate in that I had been there seven years and had a good understanding of the operation.

"At one time or another I had coached every kid on the varsity. So I wasn't stepping into something sight unseen."

Cahill took a demoralized, losing team that had enjoyed few successes under Dietzel and produced eight victories in 10 games, including a 20-7 triumph over Navy.

It was after the third game — 11-0 over Penn State for victory No. 3 — that Cahill said he returned home and told his wife, "You can unpack the dishes now."

Buckpasser Set To Open Campaign As 4-Year-Old

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Millionaire Buckpasser, 1966 Horse of the Year, makes his 4-year-old debut Saturday in the $50,000-added San Fernando Stakes at Santa Anita and launches the campaign of the Phipps family and trainer Eddie Neloy to retain money winning titles they won last year with record smashing figures.

The son of Tom Fool-Busanda, winner of $1,237,174, will tote 124 pounds and meet some of the same rivals he whipped two weeks ago on the last day of 1966 in the seven furlongs of the Malibu.

The San Fernando is at 1⅛ miles — a distance at which Buckpasser never was beaten as he chalked up 13 straight victories last year after running second in his first start.

Neloy, who saddled winners of $2,456,250 and 41 stakes last year for Ogden Phipps, his mother, Mrs. H.C. Phipps, and son Dinny, will be represented in four stakes next week.

He will take a crack at the $50,000-added Tropical Park Handicap on Monday with Stupendous, a 4-year-old; go after the $25,000-added Royal Poinciana on opening day at Hialeah Park Tuesday with Bold And Brave, another 4-year-old; the $25,000-added Jasmine on Wednesday with the 3-year-old filly Irish County, and the $25,000-added Hibiscus on Saturday with Great White Way, a member of his powerful string of 3-year-olds.

Buckpasser has to finish only fourth or better to pass Carry Back and move into fourth place in the equine millionaire's club. Carry Back earned $1,241,165. Kelso tops the list with $1,977,896.

There is a possibility that Neloy may decide to send Poker out as a running mate for the Big Train of the turf.

'Howlin' Mad' Smith, 84, Ex-Marine General, Claimed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Retired Marine Corps Gen. Holland M. "Howlin' Mad" Smith, who led massive amphibious assaults on the Japanese during World War II, died Thursday at age 84.

He suffered a heart attack Nov. 14 and had been in critical condition at Balboa Naval Hospital since Dec. 13.

Known as the father of amphibious warfare, he gained fame while leading American forces to victory in the Gilberts, Marshalls, Marianas and Iwo Jima campaigns.

In 1905, he applied for a commission in the Army, but was turned down because there were no vacancies. When told the Marine Corps had vacancies, Smith asked, "What are the Marines?"

He was told — and then he joined.

Two wars and 41 years later, Gen. Smith retired, wearing the Distinguished Service Medal.

Although his success in storming the shores of islands heavily defended by the Japanese took a high toll in lives, Gen. Smith maintained that "no way has ever been found to make wars safe and easy."

Just before World War II, he took a Marine brigade to Cuba for seven months of amphibious training, and then returned to train other Marine units and the Army in the art of amphibious warfare.

Troops trained in his methods were successful in Europe and the Pacific, and played a major role in the war.

Smith was born on April 20, 1882 at Seale, Ala., and received a law degree from the University of Alabama.

A military funeral service with a 17-gun salute will be held Saturday at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot Chapel in San Diego. He will be buried at San Diego's Ft. Rosecrans National Cemetery.

People In News

LONDON (AP) — Actress Jane Asher was quoted today in London as saying she and Paul McCartney — the only unmarried Beatle — are deeply in love.

"I want to get married, probably this year, and have lots and lots of babies," she said, prior to leaving on a tour of the United States with the Bristol Old Vic Theater Company.

Miss Webb, now 53, was released several days ago from the New York State Prison for Women. She had been convicted in the slaying of a wealthy Polish refugee, Sussan Flora Reich. Two men were sentenced to death in the murder.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — States rights may be a political issue, but to at least two men it's just a name.

The men are States Rights Finley of Chattanooga and Col. States Rights Jones of the U.S. Marine Corps, who met in Chattanooga Thursday after nearly 22 years of correspondence.

Finley is named for his ancestor, Gen. States Rights Gist, who died in the Battle of Franklin, Tenn., in 1864.

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Sherman Adams, once a top aide to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was released Thursday from Mary Hitchcock Hospital in Hanover, N.H., a week after he underwent surgery for an undisclosed ailment.

It was the second operation for Adams, 68, since August, 1965, but a spokesman said the ailments were not related.

2 Unknowns Of Golf Lead At San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A few weeks ago, Jerry Steelsmith of Santa Barbara, Calif., his money and faith almost depleted, was ready to quit the pro tour and take a job as an assistant teaching pro.

Not so many years ago, Dan Keefe, of Chatham, Mass., was making a good living as industrial advertising manager for a camera firm, with no thoughts of playing golf as a profession.

Today, these two men—obscure in a world of glamor and riches—have their fingers toying with the $13,200 first prize in the $66,000 San Diego Open golf tournament, first on the $4.5 million tour.

Steelsmith is leading the pack with a seven-under par 64 over the Stardust Country Club course, thanks to a flashy putter, which gave him an eagle and six birdies in the opening round.

Next to him, one stroke back at 65, is 25-year-old Randy Glover, who never has won a tour tournament. Then comes Keefe, a teaching pro from New England, tied with former PGA champion Bobby Nichols and Gay Brewer at 66.

Hardened touring pros were still in the thick of the fight with 56 players under par. Forty-six year old Tommy Bolt and young Lee Graham were tied at 67. There was a flock at 68, 69 and 70.

PGA champion Al Geiberger was in the 69 group. The other national champion in the field, U.S. Open winner Bill Casper, also defending champion here, was even-par 71.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus aren't playing.

Pittsburgh Phantoms Hire Another Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Phantoms of the National Professional Soccer League have hired another head coach, along with two European soccer players.

The new coach, Janos Bedl, 38, of Wiesbaden, Germany, and Malta, replaces Herbert Vogt, a German who resigned because of ill health a few months after signing a contract.

Also signed Thursday were Co Prins, who was a member of the Dutch National Team in World Cup play, and Urgen Klein, a member of the German Junior National team.

The league is scheduled to open play in April.

Ranger Goal Tender Ups NHL Rating

By The Associated Press

Ed Giacomin's self-help plan has him leading the National Hockey League in goaltending and the defensive prosperity has spread throughout his New York Ranger teammates.

Giacomin lowered his average to a sparkling 2.09 Thursday with his fifth shutout of the season as the Rangers regained sole possession of first place with a 3-0 victory over Boston. Chicago fell two points back of New York, dropping a 4-1 decision to Detroit.

"I was really disappointed after last season," admits Giacomin, who struggled through a woeful rookie season. "I figured the only way I could improve was with more practice."

Defenseman Jim Neilson gave Giacomin the only goal he needed with a second period score. Then Bob Nevin and Vic Hadfield hit in the final 20 minutes for the Rangers.

Paul Henderson scored twice for the Red Wings and Gordie Howe picked up a pair of assists. The goals were the 13th and 14th for Henderson, who was out six weeks with a respiratory ailment.

Spurrier Mentioned As Giant Draft Choice

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP) — Steve Spurrier began his athletic career in a Giants' uniform —and now he may become a Giant again.

The Florida All-America quarterback, whose first sports was as an Athens, Tenn., Giant Little Leaguer in 1952, has been mentioned as a first-round draft choice of the New York Giants of the National Football League.

"I look on pro ball as just another step up in football," said Spurrier, an All-State quarterback at Johnson City's Science Hill High in 1962.

Sen. Young Attacks Anti-Poverty Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young rapped Thursday the administration of the antipoverty program for "too much pampering of Job Corps enrollees."

He criticized the government for paying for the flights of 8,596 Job Corpsmen to their homes during the Christmas season.

"More than $1 million of taxpayers' money went down the drain to provide transportation so that Job Corpsmen could enjoy a happy holiday at their homes," the Ohio Democrat remarked in the Senate.

Young said he was told of many instances in which military servicemen were bumped off planes during Christmas because they were flying on a low-priority, half-acre ticket.

Policeman Reinstated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus' Civil Service Commission reinstated Thursday night to the police force, with full pay, Patrolman James McCormick, who had been fired last November on charges of filing a false report in connection with a shooting.

If that is the case, then Maury Wills apparently is ready for another stormy National League pennant race.

Wills, the shortstop who fell into disfavor with the Los Angeles Dodgers after the 1966 season and was traded to Pittsburgh, signed with the Pirates Thursday for an undisclosed amount. He received about $80,000 last season.

"He signed with a smile on his face," General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates said. "I didn't have to twist his arm. So obviously he's satisfied, or he wouldn't have signed.

If the occasion struck a happy note for the Pirates and the 34-year-old shortstop, who is tabbed for third base duty with Pittsburgh, it brought a chorus of the blues from at least one other National League manager.

Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs said the acquisition of Wills, irked with the Dodgers, makes the Pirates the team to beat.

Wills will "give 200 per cent instead of just 100 per cent" for the Pirates, "a good club to begin with," Durocher said.

Wills, who signed in his hometown of Spokane, Wash., fell into disfavor with Dodgers' owner Walter O'Malley when he left the team during a barnstorming tour of Japan, asserting he needed to return to the United States for treatment of an injured knee.

Brown, who gave up infielder-outfielder Bob Bailey and infielder Gene Michael to the Dodgers, said Wills' knee trouble is cleared up.

Wills' signing was only one of several to be announced Thursday, the Boston Red Sox leading the way with 13.

St. Louis signed veteran center fielder Curt Flood and rookie right-handed pitcher Joe DiFabio. Flood needs to play only the first two games of next season without an error to set a new National League record of 187 straight errorless games for an outfielder. He hit .267 in 1966 after three consecutive .300-plus years.

San Francisco also signed a key pitcher, Bob Bolin, a right-hander who was 11-10 last season with four of his losses being shutouts, came to terms for an estimated $30,000.

Philadelphia signed three players, and Atlanta announced it had added four to its fold.

Infielder Phil Linz, right-handed pitcher Bob Buhl, 6-8 in 1966 with the Cubs and Philadelphia, and right-hander Dick Hall, 6-2 in relief with the world champion Baltimore Orioles, were the Phillies signed.

Agreeing to terms with Atlanta were pitcher Denny Lemaster, Dick Kelly and Pat Jarvis and infielder Woody Woodward. The southpaw Lemaster was 11-8 last year.

Heading the flock of Red Sox signees were first baseman George Scott, third baseman Joe Foy and second baseman George Smith. The other 10 were pitchers, including Dennis Bennett, Jim Longborg, Lee Stange and Jose Santiago.

Besides the Red Sox, the only other American League club reporting a signing was Kansas City. The Atnletics signed outfielder Alan Lewis, who stole a Florida State League record of 116 bases last season at Leesburg, Va.

In another development, the New York Yankees said highly touted rookie outfielder Bill Robinson would undergo surgery next week for removal of a small bone chip from his right elbow. Robinson was obtained from Atlanta for veteran third baseman Clete Boyer.

Ohl's 41 Ends Bullet Losing Streak At 13

By The Associated Press

Nobody seems to want to buy the St. Louis Hawks, which perhaps is just as well because Don Ohl seems to own them already.

Just as it was being learned Thursday that the New Orleans group that had offered $3.8 million for the Hawks had lowered its bid, Baltimore, led by Ohl's 41 points, broke a 13-game National Basketball Association losing streak with a 137-116 triumph.

A spokesman for the Hawks said the new bid by the New Orleans group was not satisfactory and that owner Ben Kerner, who wants to sell because of illness, was hoping for other offers.

Ohl broke open what had been a tight game with 18 last-quarter points. The game was tied at 105 with 8:47 left before a free throw by Gus Johnson, returning to action after missing eight games because of a knee injury, put the Bullets ahead for good.

In the only other game Thursday night, the Warriors rallied in the final period and overhauled New York 127-123 at San Francisco.

Rick Barry paced the Warriors with 41 points, including San Francisco's last eight points, six on free throws. Teammate Nate Thurmond contributed 30 points and 30 rebounds as the Western Division leaders stretched their first-place margin to 8½ games.

Wrestling Tourney At Weirton Called Off

The Upper Ohio Valley wrestling tournament originally scheduled at Weirton Saturday has been cancelled. Oak Glen High School was to participate in the tourney. The next home match for the Bears will be Monday against Beaver Local.

Fellow Coaches Cite Tom Cahill

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — At the age 47 when the world has passed many men by, Tom Cahill of Army unexpectedly found himself on top of that world today.

Cahill, quiet and with few extrovert qualities, was picked by his colleagues in the American Football Coaches Association as University Coach of the Year Thursday night.

He achieved the honor after being a head coach less than a year and at a time in life when few assistant coaches feel that such a coaching opportunity will ever come their way.

In a notable contrast, the coaches named Dan Jessee, 65, who retired after 35 years at Trinity, in Hartford, Conn., as College Coach of 1966.

To complete a sweep of honors for Eastern coaches, Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse was elected president of the association Thursday.

Cahill was little known outside his area when shortly before the start of spring practice last year Coach Paul Dietzel decided the University of South Carolina was more attractive than the U.S. Military Academy.

Three days before spring practice ended Col. Ray Murphy, director of athletics, told Cahill, "The job is yours, if you want it."

Cahill moved his family into the big house provided the head coach at West Point, but they did not immediately unpack everything.

"At 47, well, that's a little late to suddenly find yourself in a head coaching job," Cahill said. "I was fortunate in that I had been there seven years and had a good understanding of the operation.

"At one time or another I had coached every kid on the varsity. So I wasn't stepping into something sight unseen."

Cahill took a demoralized, losing team that had enjoyed few successes under Dietzel and produced eight victories in 10 games, including a 20-7 triumph over Navy.

It was after the third game — 11-0 over Penn State for victory No. 3 — that Cahill said he returned home and told his wife, "You can unpack the dishes now."

The defeats were to national champion Notre Dame and to Tennessee.

Buckpasser Set To Open Campaign As 4-Year-Old

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Millionaire Buckpasser, 1966 Horse of the Year, makes his 4-year-old debut Saturday in the $50,000-added San Fernando Stakes at Santa Anita and launches the campaign of the Phipps family and trainer Eddie Neloy to retain money winning titles they won last year with record smashing figures.

The son of Tom Fool-Busanda, winner of $1,237,174, will tote 124 pounds and meet some of the same rivals he whipped two weeks ago on the last day of 1966 in the seven furlongs of the Malibu.

The San Fernando is at 1⅛ miles — a distance at which Buckpasser never was beaten as he chalked up 13 straight victories last year after running second in his first start.

The Ogden Phipps ace will race one more time at Santa Anita— the $100,000-added Strub Jan. 28 — before rejoining the remainder of the stable in Florida.

Neloy, who saddled winners of $2,456,250 and 41 stakes last year for Ogden Phipps, his mother, Mrs. H.C. Phipps, and son Dinny, will be represented in four stakes next week.

He will take a crack at the $50,000-added Tropical Park Handicap on Monday with Stupendous, a 4-year-old; go after the $25,000-added Royal Poinciana on opening day at Hialeah Park Tuesday with Bold And Brave, another 4-year-old; the $25,000-added Jasmine on Wednesday with the 3-year-old filly Irish County, and the $25,000-added Hibiscus on Saturday with Great White Way, a member of his powerful string of 3-year-olds.

Buckpasser has to finish only fourth or better to pass Carry Back and move into fourth place in the equine millionaire's club. Carry Back earned $1,241,165. Kelso tops the list with $1,977,896.

There is a possibility that Neloy may decide to send Poker out as a running mate for the Big Train of the turf.

'Howlin' Mad' Smith, 84, Ex-Marine General, Claimed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Retired Marine Corps Gen. Holland M. "Howlin' Mad" Smith, who led massive amphibious assaults on the Japanese during World War II, died Thursday at age 84.

He suffered a heart attack Nov. 14 and had been in critical condition at Balboa Naval Hospital since Dec. 13.

Known as the father of amphibious warfare, he gained fame while leading American forces to victory in the Gilberts, Marshalls, Marianas and Iwo Jima campaigns.

In 1905, he applied for a commission in the Army, but was turned down because there were no vacancies. When told the Marine Corps had vacancies, Smith asked, "What are the Marines?"

He was told — and then he joined.

Two wars and 41 years later, Gen. Smith retired, wearing the Distinguished Service Medal.

Although his success in storming the shores of islands heavily defended by the Japanese took a high toll in lives, Gen. Smith maintained that "no way has ever been found to make wars safe and easy."

Just before World War II, he took a Marine brigade to Cuba for seven months of amphibious training, and then returned to train other Marine units and the Army in the art of amphibious warfare.

Troops trained in his methods were successful in Europe and the Pacific, and played a major role in the war.

In 1943, Smith commanded the 5th Amphibious Corps, and the next year was named commander of the newly created Fleet Marine Force.

Smith was born on April 20, 1882 at Seale, Ala., and received a law degree from the University of Alabama.

A military funeral service with a 17-gun salute will be held Saturday at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot Chapel in San Diego. He will be buried at San Diego's Ft. Rosecrans National Cemetery.

People In News

LONDON (AP) — Actress Jane Asher was quoted today in London as saying she and Paul McCartney — the only unmarried Beatle — are deeply in love.

"I want to get married probably this year, and have lots and lots of babies," she said, prior to leaving on a tour of the United States with the Bristol Old Vic Theater Company.

Miss Webb, now 53, was released several days ago from the New York State Prison for Women. She had been convicted in the slaying of a wealthy Polish refugee, Sussan Flora Reich. Two men were sentenced to death in the murder.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — States rights may be a political issue, but to at least two men it's just a name.

The men are States Rights Finley of Chattanooga and Col. States Rights Jones of the U.S. Marine Corps, who met in Chattanooga Thursday after nearly 22 years of correspondence.

Finley is named for his ancestor, Gen. States Rights Gist who died in the Battle of Franklin, Tenn., in 1864.

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Sherman Adams, once a top aide to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was released Thursday from Mary Hitchcock Hospital in Hanover, N.H., a week after he underwent surgery for an undisclosed ailment.

It was the second operation for Adams, 68, since August, 1965, but a spokesman said the ailments were not related.

2 Unknowns Of Golf Lead At San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A few weeks ago, Jerry Steelsmith of Santa Barbara, Calif., his money and faith almost depleted, was ready to quit the pro tour and take a job as an assistant teaching pro.

Not so many years ago, Dan Keefe, of Chatham, Mass., was making a good living as industrial advertising manager for a camera firm, with no thoughts of playing golf as a profession.

Today, these two men—obscure in a world of glamor and riches—have their fingers toying with the $13,200 first prize in the $66,000 San Diego Open golf tournament, first on the $4.5 million tour.

Steelsmith is leading the pack with a seven-under par 64 over the Stardust Country Club course, thanks to a flashy putter, which gave him an eagle and six birdies in the opening round.

Next to him, one stroke back at 65, is 25-year-old Randy Glover, who never has won a tour tournament. Then comes Keefe, a teaching pro from New England, tied with former PGA champion Bobby Nichols and Gay Brewer at 66.

Hardened touring pros were still in the thick of the fight with 56 players under par. Forty-six year old Tommy Bolt and young Lee Graham were tied at 67. There was a flock at 68, 69 and 70.

PGA champion Al Geiberger was in the 69 group. The other national champion in the field, U.S. Open winner Bill Casper, also defending champion here, was even-par 71.

Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus aren't playing.

Pittsburgh Phantoms Hire Another Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Phantoms of the National Professional Soccer League have hired another head coach, along with two European soccer players.

The new coach, Janos Bedl, 38, of Wiesbaden, Germany, and Malta, replaces Herbert Vogt, a German who resigned because of ill health a few months after signing a contract.

Also signed Thursday were Co Prins, who was a member of the Dutch National Team in World Cup play, and Urgen Klein, a member of the German Junior National team.

Bedl's annual salary was reported to be in excess of $20,000.

The league is scheduled to open play in April.

Ranger Goal Tender Ups NHL Rating

By The Associated Press

Ed Giacomin's self-help plan has him leading the National Hockey League in goaltending and the defensive prosperity has spread throughout his New York Ranger teammates.

Giacomin lowered his average to a sparkling 2.09 Thursday with his fifth shutout of the season as the Rangers regained sole possession of first place with a 3-0 victory over Boston. Chicago fell two points back of New York, dropping a 4-1 decision to Detroit.

"I was really disappointed after last season," admits Giacomin, who struggled through a woeful rookie season. "I figured the only way I could improve was with more practice."

Defenseman Jim Neilson gave Giacomin the only goal he needed with a second period score. Then Bob Nevin and Vic Hadfield hit in the final 20 minutes for the Rangers.

Paul Henderson scored twice for the Red Wings and Gordie Howe picked up a pair of assists. The goals were the 13th and 14th for Henderson, who was out six weeks with a respiratory ailment.

Dean Prentice and Bruce MacGregor scored the other Detroit goals.

Sen. Young Attacks Anti-Poverty Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young rapped Thursday the administration of the antipoverty program for "too much pampering of Job Corps enrollees."

He criticized the government for paying for the flights of 8,596 Job Corpsmen to their homes during the Christmas season.

"More than $1 million of taxpayers' money went down the drain to provide transportation so that Job Corpsmen could enjoy a happy holiday at their homes," the Ohio Democrat remarked in the Senate.

Young said he was told of many instances in which military servicemen were bumped off planes during Christmas because they were flying on a low-priority, half-acre ticket.

Dip In Revenues Cited Reason For Beaver Train Cut

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An official of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad has testified that the railroad wants to eliminate five commuter trains between Pittsburgh and Beaver—Mahoning Valley communities because revenues have dipped 5.8 per cent.

Aloysis R. Fischl, auditor of revenues, said at a state Public Utility Commission hearing Thursday the Pittsburgh—Beaver run has suffered a 23.87 per cent decline in use.

He said the dip in revenue came despite a recent rate increase.

Three Beaver residents--Miss Eleanor Coss, Joanne Ashenbaugh and Albert Stammelbach--said the elimination of three trains to their hometown would cause inconvenience in commuting to their jobs in Pittsburgh.

Stammelbach said a usage drop was due to poor service.

The railroad is also asking for permission to eliminate two trains to Youngstown, Ohio.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of Mrs. Dorothy Gill Fagan who died Jan. 13, 1966.

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall.
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true.
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.

Sister, Mrs. Eleanor Wilson and family

A Junior Editors Quiz About PRAYING MANTIS

QUESTION: Is the praying mantis just an ugly bug, or does it have some value?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: First, the praying mantis, or mantid, isn't a bug. This word refers to one special kind of insect (example: the water bug). The mantid belongs in another insect group, the Mantidae. Mantids, of course, are not praying when they hold up their front legs in the queer position Joe is imitating. The mantid uses this position to hold the insects he eats for food close to his jaws. He is an extremely hungry creature. It is this that makes him of value to mankind, for mantids consume great quantities of insects which are harmful to us. So useful is the mantid that the European species of this insect has been introduced into the United States, since it specially likes to dine on certain insects which we don't want. Mantids are also interesting for the way they can swivel their heads around, unusual for an insect. The other insect in our picture, which might be confused with a mantid, is a walkingstick. This creature has a thinner body and the three pairs of legs all look alike. The walkingstick eats leaves, rather than insects.

Just Who Is A Dependent?

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With his earnings he clothed himself, supplied his own spending money and bought his school supplies. It cost you, as his father, an additional $500 to maintain him.

Your 18-year-old daughter, a senior in high school, worked in an office after school, on Saturdays and throughout the summer vacation. She earned $1,800 and banked it all for her college tuition. You paid all her expenses.

You furnished the chief support for your mother, a widow over 65, who lived in your home last year. Her only income was $55 a month rent she collected from her former residence.

Answer: Only your daughter.

EVERY YEAR taxpayers seem to have more trouble over the question of dependency than any other item on their returns.

1.—The person being claimed must have received less than $600 in gross income. (This qualification does not apply to your children under 19 or who are full-time students.) This ruled out the possibility of claiming your mother in the example above, however.

2.—The taxpayer must have furnished more than one-half of the total support for the year. (This ruled out your son.)

4.—A nationality requirement must be met.

5. — The claimed dependent must be related to you or, if not a relative, must have lived in your home for the entire taxable year.

For instance, if the boy saved $300 of his earnings, or if the mother had reduced the rent to below $50 a month for the full year both could have qualified as additional dependents on your return.

A baby born any time during the year — even on Dec. 31 — entitles the parents to a full $600 dependency credit. A dependent who dies during the year may be still claimed for a full credit in the year of death.

And your daughter for whom you furnished chief support all year but who married on Thanksgiving Day may be still claimed as a dependent on your return, but only if she does not file a joint return with her husband or is not listed as an exemption on his return.

'Plaza' Names New Officers

Gay Billingsley, owner of Billingsley Foodland, was elected president when the newly-organized St. Clair Plaza Merchants Association met Wednesday afternoon at the office of the Potters Savings and Loan branch office.

Other officers named are: Ernest Fannin, manager of Hills, vice president, and James Moss, manager of Thrift Drugs, secretary-treasurer.

Also represented at Wednesday's meeting were the Plaza Restaurant, Presswell Cleaners, Potters Lumber Co., Sears catalogue store, First National Bank and Laughlin's bookstore.

Bill Proposes To 'Toughen' West Virginia Election Law

CHARLESTON (AP) — A Republican - baked bill to toughen West Virginia's election law and a bill making 120 hours of basic training mandatory for all police men were among 11 measures introduced in the legislature today.

House Republicans got the jump on the administration in preparing the election law bill. The administration is expected to toss its version into the hopper soon.

The bill, sponsored by House Minority Leader Brereton C. Jones, R-Mason, and Del. Cleo Jones, R-Kanawha, calls for making vote buying a felony instead of a misdemeanor.

The two Joneses called for cancelling registration of all voters Jan. 1, 1968, and starting fresh with a new registration. This would be supported with registration checks every two years instead of the present every four years.

The bill's sponsors said it would make it a crime for two or more persons to conspire to violate any election law.

This would "eliminate the smoke - filled rooms and political bosses who instruct the election workers to violate these laws," the Joneses said.

Other provisions would require consecutively numbered ballots to "eliminate ballot box stuffing," and would imposed a $50 fine and-or a 30-day jail term for any election officer to assist a voter in marking a ballot, except when the voter is blind or unable to write his name.

A bill was introduced in the Senate requiring every "county, municipality, town or village" to send every police force rookie to 120 hours of basic training.

The measure also would create a police training advisory commission to establish a course of study and oversee the administration of all police schools.

County and local police officers now undergo basic training only on a spot basis. Some cities and counties provide the training, some don't.

Among other bills introduced today would:

— Increase the title fee for motor vehicles from $1 to $3 and eliminates the trade - in credit before computation of the 3 per cent highway privilege tax. No sponsor on Senate bill.

Just Who Is A Dependent?

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With his earnings he clothed himself, supplied his own spending money and bought his school supplies. It cost you, as his father, an additional $500 to maintain him.

Your 18-year-old daughter, a senior in high school, worked in an office after school, on Saturdays and throughout the summer vacation. She earned $1,800 and banked it all for her college tuition. You paid all her expenses.

You furnished the chief support for your mother, a widow over 65, who lived in your home last year. Her only income was $55 a month rent she collected from her former residence.

Question: Which ones can you claim as dependents on your income tax return for 1966?

EVERY YEAR taxpayers seem to have more trouble over the question of dependency than any other item on their returns.

Here are the five conditions which must be met before a dependency exemption may be claimed:

1.—The person being claimed must have received less than $600 in gross income. (This qualification does not apply to your children under 19 or who are full-time students.) This ruled out the possibility of claiming your mother in the example above, however.

2.—The taxpayer must have furnished more than one-half of the total support for the year. (This ruled out your son.)

4.—A nationality requirement must be met.

5. — The claimed dependent must be related to you or, if not a relative, must have lived in your home for the entire taxable year.

For instance, if the boy saved $300 of his earnings, or if the mother had reduced the rent to below $50 a month for the full year both could have qualified as additional dependents on your return.

A baby born any time during the year — even on Dec. 31 — entitles the parents to a full $600 dependency credit. A dependent who dies during the year may be still claimed for a full credit in the year of death.

And your daughter for whom you furnished chief support all year but who married on Thanksgiving Day may be still claimed as a dependent on your return, but only if she does not file a joint return with her husband or is not listed as an exemption on his return.
